

Violent Death Toll High

National Safety Council Calls Holiday Accidents Disgrace to Country

By The Associated Press
The worst accidental death toll in the history of the nation's observance of Independence Day was recorded today. The national safety council called the total a "disgrace to a civilized country."

Late tabulations showed a record 822 persons killed in violent accidents during the three-day week-end.

The grim report on the nation's fatalities showed 302 traffic deaths, 245 drownings and 135 deaths in violent accidents. The country-wide survey covered violent deaths from 6 p. m. local time Friday to midnight Monday.

The toll this year smashed the previous record of 628 accidental deaths set during the three-day celebration of the Fourth of July in 1941. Last year, 571 deaths were reported over the three-day period.

Millions on Highway
Millions took to the highways for resorts this year to escape sweltering heat. Traffic deaths led the figures, while drownings followed. The National Safety Council had estimated that 290 persons would die in traffic mishaps.

The council's president, Ned H. Dearborn, said in a statement today "It is shameful and disgraceful that a humanitarian and civilized nation must sacrifice more than 850 lives to celebrate a holiday dedicated to a free and secure and happy people."

"Most of the traffic deaths were due directly or indirectly to cheating on traffic rules and to poor sportsmanship," Dearborn added. "A show-off attitude also was responsible for drowning deaths."

Drowning Toll High
This year's drowning toll broke the record 192 established in 1948. The survey showed no fatalities from fireworks.

Michigan led the drowning totals with 26 persons. New York reported 21 drowned.

The death toll was heaviest in Texas, where 47 died in violent accidents. New York and Michigan each reported 46 deaths. But there were no violent deaths reported in Nevada or the District of Columbia. Cook county (Chicago) Illinois reported one fatality—believed a record low.

Reno Strike Underway

Two pickets walk through holiday crowds before a Reno, Nev. gaming club after a strike of bartenders, cooks, and waitresses got underway. All bars, restaurants and hotel dining rooms were affected in the city, packed with holiday throngs. A citizens emergency committee was proceeding with plans to feed the visitors in the city park. Entertainers cleared dishes and proprietors mixed drinks in an effort to keep business going. (AP Wirephoto)

'Why Success Or Failure In The Child'

Topic of Talk Given Today at Optimist Club

Col. L. B. Wikoff, secretary-treasurer of Wentworth Military Academy spoke to the Sedalia Optimist club at its noon luncheon at the Bothwell hotel today. Col. Wikoff's topic, "Why Success or Failure in the Child," was taken from studies made by Dr. T. Luther Purdom, Director of Placement and Personnel Advisor at Michigan university. He stated that there is always a reason for behavior and when that reason is determined, progress toward the solution of the individual problems can be started. According to Col. Wikoff, it is first necessary to determine what the successful boy has that is lacking in the unsuccessful boy. The studies of Dr. Purdom indicated that there were some 18 critical points to be considered:

1. Definite objective and motivation is generally apparent in the successful boy. What the objective is or what the motivation is, is not too essential, but the preparation for that objective is very important. He must receive advice and strong direction, but free from dictation for dictation can ruin the next point.

2. Initiative and Responsibility. The successful boy must acquire the habit of getting things done. Each job should be completed regardless of how trivial it may seem. In as much as the parent cannot drive or dominate the boy all of his life the parent should make the boy think.

3. Good recreation and amusement. The boy must have something worth while to do in their free time. Recreation, temperate sports, amusements must be directed along worthwhile lines.
4. Family life. Col. Wikoff stated that there are more poor parents than there are poor boys and that therefore poor parents are not the sole reason for poor boys but they are highly contributory. Family should get together at least once each day. Pride in the family should be instilled in the boy with the family working as a team. He stated that every father should take time off once in a while to get acquainted with the adolescent male who is his son.

5. Honesty of Purpose Necessary. 6. Morals. A successful boy has honesty of purpose. His sense of proportions is right. He has an imagination but it is directed in the right channels.

6. Good habits. The successful boy has good habits of being where he is supposed to be at the time he should be there. He attains success by the habit of being successful.

7. Intelligence. According to Col. Wikoff, the I. Q. is somewhat (Please turn to page 4 column 1)

Hiss Case to Jury Thursday

NEW YORK, July 5—(AP)—The perjury trial of Alger Hiss will go to the jury Thursday afternoon, Federal Judge Samuel H. Kaufman announced today.

A recess was taken at 12:05 p. m. (EST) until tomorrow morning when Judge Kaufman said there would be a "very few minutes of testimony."

The judge said that following testimony tomorrow the defense would have the rest of the day for its summation. The government will sum up its case Thursday morning.

After lunch Thursday Judge Kaufman said he would deliver his charge to the jury and that body would begin its deliberations. The prosecution rested its case at 10:28 a. m. (EST).

U. S. Has Halted Red Expansion

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., July 5.—(AP)—America's growing military strength has halted Communist expansion in Europe, Lieut.-Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, former ambassador to Russia, said yesterday. He called the cold war a "contest of indefinite duration."

"It is not sufficient only to have the potential to defend ourselves if attacked," he said.

Now commanding general of the first army, Smith spoke at Independence day ceremonies marking the opening of a restored 18th century arsenal in this former colonial capital.

"Our strength must actually exist and be apparent to all if it is to serve its highest purpose—that of preventing war and assuring peace."

Smith found the United States has already taken important strides in that direction.

He said a realization that the nation's military strength is growing "has halted at least temporarily the tide of Communist expansion in Europe."

Search Home Where Woman Recluse Lives

PHILADELPHIA, July 5—(AP)—Authorities today awaited a court order permitting an intensified search of a home where they said a woman recluse lived like a beggar despite the fortune at her command.

A preliminary survey of the cluttered building yesterday revealed the woman was worth at least $200,000, authorities estimated, but she chose to live on a semi-starvation diet of bread and milk.

The woman, Mrs. Catherine S. Ritter, 79, was found dead Sunday on her trash-blanketed bed. The house was crammed with rubbish and litter.

Police said they suspected that somewhere in the maze would be found a clue to the whereabouts of possibly $100,000 Mrs. Ritter is believed to have hidden away.

Rents Brought Regularly
Police said rents collected from tenants of some 14 houses she owned were brought to her regularly. Neighbors told the investigators they knew virtually nothing of the woman except that she used a tiny vestibule as an "office" from which she conducted her outside contacts.

About two weeks ago two neighbors related Mrs. Ritter had opened the front door and sent them to a store to buy her bread and milk.

But it was at least a year since any one had seen her emerge from her home.

The investigation of Mrs. Ritter's death was started by neighbors who complained of "odors" emitting from the house.

Police broke into the house and found the woman's body. They said she had been dead "about three or four days." Death was attributed to "natural causes."

Objects to Regimenting

GREENVILLE, S. C., July 5.—(AP)—Former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes said "We do not want the Federal government regimenting our lives from the cradle to the grave."

He reiterated his stand against a "welfare state" and called on the United States to be strong militarily and economically in a speech yesterday to the South Carolina American Legion convention.

"We must remain strong economically," he declared. "Our first line of defense is not on the Rhine—it is a sound, safe American economy. That sound American economy is likewise the first line of defense of all democratic nations."

Sen. Connally Opens Senate Debate on Pact

Pleads For Quick Approval as Proof Of Nations Harmony

WASHINGTON, July 5—(AP)—Senator Connally (D-Tex) today opened Senate debate on the Atlantic Pact with a plea for swift approval as "unmistakable proof" that free nations will stand together against attack.

In the treaty, he said, "The free nations of the North Atlantic area lay before the nations of the world a noble declaration that no armed aggressor, no swaggering conqueror, no military despot shall invade the North Atlantic area."

The 20-year compact has been signed by the United States, Canada and 10 European nations, but it must be ratified by a two-thirds Senate vote before it becomes binding on this country. Fewer than a dozen senators are expected to oppose it.

Connally, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, urged his colleagues to stamp their approval on the alliance as quickly as possible.

Must Preserve Liberty

Liberty must be preserved even though "purchased in blood," he declared in his prepared speech. He described the pact as "an effort to coordinate and consolidate that duty upon the group as a whole rather than to leave each individual country the hopeless task of defending itself."

But Connally insisted that the treaty does not automatically commit the United States to fight in case an ally is attacked.

He also made clear that no senator who votes for the pact will be bound to vote for the proposed $1,130,000,000 arms-for-Europe program.

President Truman has not yet sent the arms plan to Congress. Senate leaders have said it will be submitted after the Senate votes on the treaty.

Many Senators Critical
While opposition to the pact has been slight, there are many Senators critical of the related arms program.

One of these, Senator Taft (R-Ohio) has suggested a compromise under which Greece and Turkey would continue to get military supplies from this country, while France would be the only pact nation to receive such arms aid.

"I don't think the other treaty nations particularly need that kind of help now," he said.

Connally told the Senate that while the arms program and the pact are inseparable, the pact is personally that both will be approved during this session of Congress. But he added:

"It is entirely possible, however, that even a strong supporter of the treaty might find good and legitimate reasons for opposing the military assistance program. This is a matter for each Senator to decide as he searches his own conscience and exercises his own honest judgment."

Cancer Victim Dies Unafraid

SAN DIEGO, Calif., July 5.—(AP)—Forrest Warren met death unafraid, just as he said six weeks ago he would.

The 72-year old newspaperman columnist for the San Diego Daily Journal "just went to sleep" at 5 a. m. yesterday at his home.

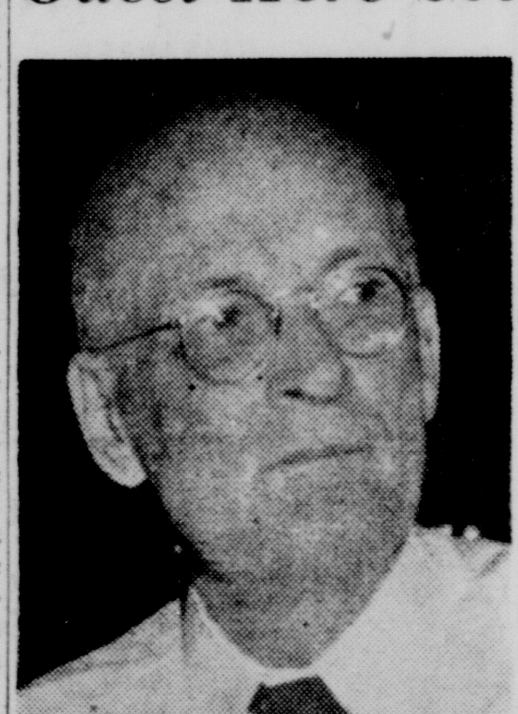

Knowing he was dying of cancer, Warren told his readers about his approaching death in his column of May 17. He used the column as an appeal for the cancer fund research program.

The Journal said the appeal had brought in $35,000 to date.

"His was as nearly a complete victory over death as any person I've ever known," said the Rev. Frank Linder of the First Methodist church. "He was utterly reconciled."

Warren was born at Vermillion, Kas., where he started his career as a printer's devil. He was a contemporary of William Allen White, famed Emporia editor and worked on various papers in Kansas, New Mexico and Texas. He came to San Diego in the 1920's.

Vivian Truman In Hospital

GRANDVIEW, Mo., July 5—(AP)—J. Vivian Truman, the president's brother, was hospitalized today by head injuries suffered in an Independence day accident.

He fell from a barn loft on the family farm while removing picnic tables from the loft. Truman was knocked unconscious in the eight-foot tumble.

Dr. John R. McKee, the family physician, said his condition was not critical.

Truman, who is district director of the federal housing administration, was reported resting comfortably today by hospital attendants.

Top of Bldg. Tumbles Down Five Killed

Three Injured Are Still Listed As Critical

PITTSBURGH, July 5—(AP)—The top of a building thundered down on a group of strolling pedestrians last night on northside Federal street, killing five persons and injuring seven.

Three of the injured were still listed as critical today at Allegheny General hospital.

"It was a terrifying thing," said Joe Deveny, 32, who suffered a compound fractured leg. "I looked up and saw two big signs coming at me. Then the whole building seemed to come down."

The dead were Mrs. Rose G. Coco, 22, Pittsburgh, who died today; T. J. McGee, 60, retired Pennsylvania railroad worker; Charles Schmidt, 29, Donald Hanlon, 22, and Mrs. Viola Dickson, 39.

Critically hurt were John McDonough, 27, broken back; Foster McAllister, 40, fractured skull and David Stevens, 9, arm and leg fractures.

Blamed Collapse on Mortar.
Fire Chief William Davis and building inspector George McK. Boileau blamed the collapse on disintegration of lime mortar.

They said the mortar had turned to dust and no longer held the bricks together.

The accident occurred shortly before 10 p. m. in view of thousands of persons seeking relief from the intense 20-degree heat.

Firemen and emergency police crews helped dig the victims from the debris.

Cooperating in Cutting Weeds

The property owners are cooperating splendidly, James I. Collins, city engineer, said this morning in regard to having weeds and grass cut on their properties.

City employees at the present time are cutting about 75 miles of weeds and grass along sidewalks and streets located near vacant lots. The 12-mile road district is also cutting weeds along streets and roads in the district.

Both the city engineer and the 12-mile road superintendent reported a great rapidity in the growth of weeds.

Mr. Collins said that many business places and property owners have contacted men who operate power-driven lawn-mowers to cut their weeds for the entire season.

Versailles Resident Seriously Hurt

Johnny Hibdon, aged 24, of Versailles, was seriously injured Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock when the Chevrolet truck he was driving overturned on the Soap Creek hill south of Versailles.

He was treated at the Gunn Clinic at Versailles and then taken to the Wadsworth Veterans hospital at Leavenworth, Kas. He suffered back and head injuries.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lem Hibdon of Bunston, Mo. He is married and has a 22 months old son. His wife accompanied him to Leavenworth.

The government charges this involved eight separate acts of treason, "Intentional and traitorous."

The defense will contend that in making the broadcasts, Iva Toguri acted under compulsion.

The defense also will contend that through her marriage, in 1945, to Felipe D'Quino, she became a citizen of Portugal and as such is not liable to treason charges in the United States.

Sedalian One Of 3 Killed In Auto Wreck

Headon Collision Occurred Monday Night Near Nevada

NEVADA, Mo., July 5—(AP)—Two persons were in a critical condition at the hospital here today with injuries suffered in a head-on car collision last night in which three others were killed.

Listed as critical were Mrs. Marie Higberger, 27, Kansas City, and William Clayton Barker, 21, Miller, Mo. Ralph R. Higberger, 29, husband of Mrs. Higberger, was reported in a dangerous condition.

Killed were Homer Lee Barker, 21, a brother of William Clayton Barker; John A. McFarland, 36, a Kansas City truckline employee, and Miss Wilma Morgan, 36, of Kansas City. McFarland's home is in Sedalia, Mo.

Sheriff Leslie Hunt of Vernon county said the headon collision occurred about six miles south of Nevada on U. S. Highway 71 about 9:15 o'clock last night.

Believe McFarland Was Driving
Hunt said it was believed McFarland was the driver of the car in which the Higbergers were riding in the rear seat. The Barker brothers were driving south in a coupe. The driver of their car has not been determined.

Letters found in the Barker car, the sheriff said, indicated the young men were returning to their home from the Kansas wheat fields. The four in the other car were returning to Kansas City after a four-day trip to points near Santa Vista, Ark. The Barker car was demolished.

Mrs. Higberger suffered fractures of the skull and pelvis and a broken leg; Barker fractures of the skull, jaw and right leg, and Higberger a back fracture.

Killed Instantly
Miss Morgan, who was thrown from the car, was killed instantly. Homer Barker and McFarland died on the way to the hospital.

McFarland, who also was thrown from the car, suffered a punctured jugular vein. Homer Barker's injuries consisted of a fractured neck, skull and left arm and multiple lacerations. He had been trapped in the coupe when his brother was thrown out.

The Higbergers were removed from the other car by persons who gathered at the scene.

A coroner's inquest in the accident is to be held at 4 p. m. today by W. D. Thurman, Vernon county coroner.

Miss Morgan was the operator of a grill at Kansas City.

For the past year John McFarland, aged 29, has been employed by the Alkire Trucking company, of Kansas City, as a driver. His address in Sedalia is 423 East Seventh street.

He was born in Pettis county on August 10, 1919, and was the son of Pete and Ada McFarland, route 5, Sedalia. He attended the Hopewell school and served in the army from September, 1946, until April, 1947.

He is survived by his parents and the following brothers and sisters: J. D. Byron, Woodrow, and Carl McFarland, all of 423 East Seventh street, and Mrs. Tom Lettwith, of Butler.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed. The body will be brought to the Ewing funeral home from Nevada.

Tokyo Rose to Trial Tuesday
SAN FRANCISCO, July 5—(AP)—With her life at stake, the legendary Tokyo Rose of the Pacific war goes to trial in federal court today. The charge is treason.

Iva Ikuko Toguri D'Aquino, born in California on the Fourth of July 33 years ago, could be condemned to death if convicted. The minimum would be five years' imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

This much is acknowledged: She was one of six English-speaking Japanese on Radio Tokyo's wartime propaganda broadcasts to war-weary American servicemen in the Pacific.

The government charges this involved eight separate acts of treason, "Intentional and traitorous."

The defense will contend that in making the broadcasts, Iva Toguri acted under compulsion.

The defense also will contend that through her marriage, in 1945, to Felipe D'Quino, she became a citizen of Portugal and as such is not liable to treason charges in the United States.

He said it was his first experience with firecrackers and, he added, it is going to be his last. (AP Wirephoto)

Important Events In World News

WASHINGTON, July 5—(AP)—Senator Donnell (R-Mo) today challenged the appointment of Mrs. Parle Mesta—personal friend of President Truman—to be minister of Luxembourg.

Donnell told the Senate he is "gravely concerned" about the qualifications of Mrs. Mesta for the diplomatic post.

Mrs. Mesta was one of the Democratic party's big money raisers last fall. A wealthy widow, she is a noted party giver.

The Senate must approve if Mrs. Mesta is to take the diplomatic appointment offered by President Truman.

Abrupt About Face
Traditionally, the UMW has insisted its miners wouldn't dig coal unless a new contract was signed, sealed and delivered. But last week, Lewis did an abrupt about face as he sent out his work order.

Most miners agreed they would rather work on any week-end than go on strike. On a 3-day week schedule the miners will average $42.15.

The anthracite industry, which employs about 78,000 miners in eastern Pennsylvania, has been on a general three-day week in recent months. Anthracite production has been controlled for years by the Pennsylvania anthracite committee under a law passed by the Pennsylvania general assembly.

The committee is made up of representatives of the UMW, the coal operators and the commonwealth. It fixes weekly production on the basis of market demand.

All Demands Not Public
Lewis hasn't made all of his demands public. But it's known he wants a lower work week, possibly 35 or 30 hours instead of the present 40. And he also wants the 20-cent-a-ton payments to his welfare fund increased.

Lewis tried to get the operators to agree to the three-day-week but they rejected the proposal. Such a plan would violate the Sherman anti-trust act, they declared.

The soft coal operators indicated they would stop regular work schedules of four and five days a week. But it was a foregone conclusion the diggers would show up only on the day of their chief wants today, Wednesday and Thursday of this week—and Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday beginning next week.

Lewis' action has had repercussions in Washington. Senator Robertson (D-Va.) says he will call for a senate inquiry late this month, or early in August. During the week-end he declared: "I can't believe that Congress, in exempting unions from the anti-trust laws, ever intended to confer on any union the right to control production and thereby the right to control prices."

Mrs. Iva Toguri D'Aquino, 23, is at long last on trial for treason in San Francisco. She is better known as "Tokyo Rose." She was born, ironically, on the Fourth of July in Los Angeles. Her Japanese parents ran a fish and vegetable market.

She was graduated from UCLA in 1941. She was only an average student, neither pretty nor popular. While fellow students had fun, she steadily built up a resentment against those who she believed shunned her because of her race.

After graduation, she left for Japan. She says she went to visit a sick aunt. In Tokyo she enrolled in a Japanese-language school. After Pearl Harbor day, she was "dazed for weeks" but recovered enough to go to work for Radio Tokyo.

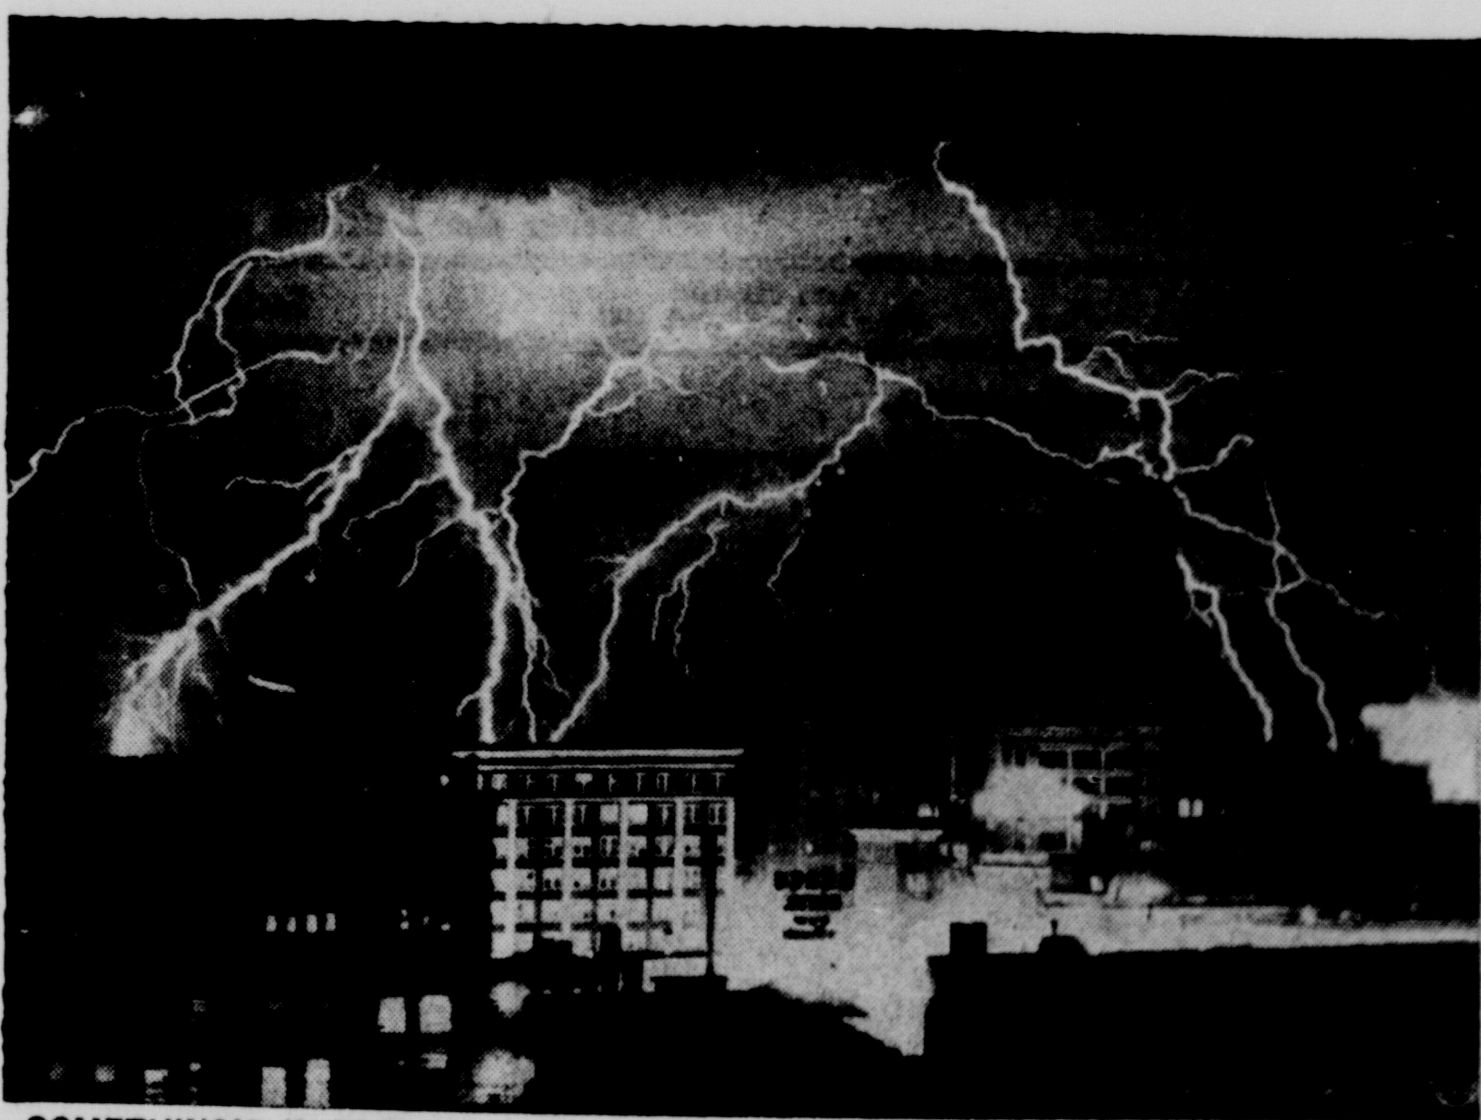

On her "Zero Hour" propaganda programs to the "forgotten men" fighting the Pacific war, honey-voiced Iva tried to make GI's homesick with familiar music, in a lilting voice told them their wives were being unfaithful at home.

She began broadcasting to American troops. The boys in the Aleutians who listened to her dubbed Iva "Tokyo Rose"—a name she never used—and it stuck. She called herself "Little Orphan Annie" or "Annie, your favorite enemy."

In 1945 she married Phillip D'Aquino, Portuguese reporter in Japan. She says this made her Portuguese. Arrested, she was brought to U. S. last September. She claims she wasn't disloyal. "just introducing musical programs."

Hal Boyle's Column

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK, July 5.—(P)—Jimmy never can forget how old man Jaspers conned him.

He told me about it as we sat in his new apartment with his latest wife, Rosabelle.

"I went to work for him during the war," said Jimmy. "He owned a big independent soft drink business—cherry, grape, lemon, ginger ale—anything that fizzed. And he shipped to five states."

"How did Mr. Jaspers ever get such a big business, honey?" Asked his wife.

"I told you a dozen times!" said Jimmy. "He got it the same way you got me—he stole it! Go mix us a drink."

Rosabelle tripped out to the kitchen, looking pleased at this version of their marriage.

"Good Men Hard To Get."

"Well, anyway," said her husband, "good men were hard to get."

about then, and it didn't take this old joker long to see I knew my way around. So he made me his general manager."

"Then he began having these strokes. They didn't make him goofy. They just kept him in bed. But every day I had to go out to his house after work and tell him what was doing at the plant."

"What kind of man was this Jaspers, Jimmy?"

"Crazy about money. His first wife divorced him after she caught him snuggling with her maid."

"And then when his ex-wife fell in love and married another guy with less money, it made Jaspers mad. Just to spite her he built a $100,000 house over in New Jersey—stingy as he was—and up and married the maid. But it didn't bother his first wife. By then she didn't care if Jaspers was $1,000 bills for breakfast. She was happy."

Rosabelle came in with the drinks.

"No Way To Check Up." "What put me in solid with the old geezer," Jimmy went on, "was the way I could scrounge sugar on the black market. We could sell all the pop we could make. The trouble was in getting the sugar. And I found how to get plenty."

"He had no way to check up on me, and for a time I was considering going into business for myself—using his plant. I could've out a few of the boys in, and we could've run off a thousand or so cases extra at night and sold them ourselves. But my wife was against it."

"Yes," Rosabelle said, looking at him fondly. "It was dishonest and you might have been caught."

"About this time I got a better offer," said Jimmy. "I went to the old man, and he told me, 'Stick to me, my boy. I'll take care of you. The business is going to belong to you and a few oldtimers at the plant when I'm gone.'"

"Naturally, I stuck. Every day I'd go out and the first thing he'd ask was, 'How many cases today?' I'd tell him, and he'd smile and say, 'You'll never regret you stuck with me.'"

Had a Stroke

"Tell him how old Jaspers died," prodded Rosabelle.

"He got a big stroke one morning. He was real weak when I came to see him. He smiled when I told him business was fine. Then he held my hand and whispered, 'Don't leave me, Jimmy. I'll take care of you well.'"

"That night he died. When his will was filed, I rushed out to the courthouse. Well, there were a lot of pages in the will—but the name 'Jimmy' wasn't on any of them."

"No," said Rosabelle, "the old skinflint left everything to the maid and their two children. And that was the first time his neighbors knew he had re-married."

Cooking Club Entertains

The Striped College 4-H Club boys and girls cooking club met at the home of their leader, Mrs. Martin Schupp, June 29.

The boys and girls mothers were their guests to this tea. After a short business meeting, the following was given: Each boy and girl had cookies on display. All oatmeal drop cookies were judged by each member, Betty Leiter and Ida Mae Bahner being the most correct. A demonstration on making biscuits, by Rosella Hunter. Demonstration on making orange salad by Ida Mae Bahner. Demonstration making a one-two, three salad dressing by Betty Schupp. Demonstration on packing a picnic lunch by Lillian Bahner. Laura Bahner gave two demonstrations arranging the table for an informal tea and serving tea to guests.

Decorations were of green and white. Refreshments of cookies the 4-H

He'd told everybody his wife was just the housekeeper and the children were adopted."

Jimmy looked a little smug.

"You know a man has to take care of himself," he said. "There weren't any invoices on that black market sugar, and I managed to make myself enough to furnish this place and put $5,000 in the bank. But what gets me is the way old Jaspers conned me—he conned me with his dying breath."

"Yes," said Rosabelle, "the things some people will do for money!"

club members had made, lemon freeze, lemon-lime cool aid and favors were mints in small green and white baskets with the 4-H emblem on the handles.

The mothers and 4-H leaders present were: Mrs. Lester Patrick, community 4-H Club leader; Mrs. Ellis Garrett, a 4-H club leader; Mrs. Leo Leiter; Mrs. N. E. Siegel, Mrs. J. A. Larson, Mrs. Charles Bahner and son, Mrs. U. S. Eye, Mrs. James Hunter and son, Mrs. R. J. Henley, Mrs. Martin Schupp.

Bird Campbells Return Home

Rev. and Mrs. Bird H. Campbell, who for the past three months and a half has been in Europe, arrived home Saturday. Returning on the Queen Elizabeth they were met in New York by their daughter, Mrs. James Harvey and Mr. Harvey, 1814 East Broadway.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell visited England, France, Ireland, Scotland, Wales, Italy, Switzerland, Norway, Denmark, Belgium and Germany, and attended the world wide 10-day convention of the Pentecostal church held in Paris. Ministering in most places they visited they found huge crowds attending all services and there were sometimes as high as 75 converted in one night. Mrs. Campbell stated that they inquired in all countries whether the gifts from America were really reaching the people and were told everywhere they were, and the people were so grateful to America.

September 1, Mr. and Mrs. Campbell will go to the west coast and will hold meetings there until spring when they will go into the southern states. They still will keep Sedalia as their headquarters and will retain their home here.

Sunday night a home coming service honoring Mr. and Mrs. Campbell was held at the Assembly of God church where he was pastor for a number of years.

over-rated. He compared intelligence to the amperage in the electric wire. It just loops along without any special purpose but when knocked along by 22,000 volts, it lights the light bulb and turns the motors that run our factories. Some of us are intelligent in some things and not so intelligent in others while our brothers may be quick in the things in which we are slow.

8. Fear. The successful boy is not successful because of fear or the lack of fear. He has a knowledge of the difference between fear and cowardice. The unsuccessful boy is many times plagued by fear of failure, or comparison with someone else too far ahead. If comparisons must be made, make it with something just a little way ahead, something within reach.

Picketing For Time This A. M.

A picketer picketed the Rosenthal's building, now under construction, for a short time this morning over a dispute as to who was going to be allowed to take on the wedding job there.

Walter Cramer, one of the contractors for the new building, gave this account of the incident this morning:

"A local welder joined a union here that claimed this work. After he had joined, another organization for the Iron Workers of Kansas City came down and claimed that this welder had joined the wrong union, and that this local welder should have joined their union."

The local welder tried to explain this morning that he acted in good faith in joining the Teamsters Union and therefore, he thought since this was a jurisdictional dispute he should be taken care of by the organizer of Teamsters Union, who first claimed jurisdiction over this work. But the organizer for the Iron Workers Union didn't seem to agree. So a picketer was put on the job leaving the contractors in the middle of this jurisdictional fight.

The contractors gave in to the Iron Workers Union to settle the dispute, and had to remove the local welder from the job and put on two members of the Kansas City Steel Workers' union.

Traffic Cases
Three cases of careless driving were called in police court, this morning, resulting in two defendants failing to appear and their cash bonds being forfeited and a third appearing and fined $10.

William Edwin Campbell, route 4, arrested in the 100 block on South Osage avenue by State Trooper Pete Stohr, pleaded not guilty. A hearing was held, after which Judge Berry fined him $10 and gave the defendant a stay on the fine.

Tom Hockaday, Smithton, failed to appear to answer to charges of careless driving by driving 55 miles per hour, and his bond of $25 was ordered forfeited.

Oliver Walton, Georgetown, arrested at Ninth street and Montgomery avenue, failed to appear in police court to careless driving and his $25 bond was ordered forfeited by Judge Berry.

What new telephone rates will do...

THE INVESTMENT ADDED for each telephone gained in Missouri in 1948 was $355. The investment per telephone before the war was $260.

So it is that high costs of operation and additions of huge quantities of new telephone plant installed at the higher postwar levels have combined to produce the low rate of earnings now being experienced in Missouri. Earnings are inadequate to attract the millions of dollars needed—much lower than those of industry in general.

EARNINGS should compare favorably with those of other businesses, so that investors—everyday people in all walks of life—will risk their savings in the telephone business.

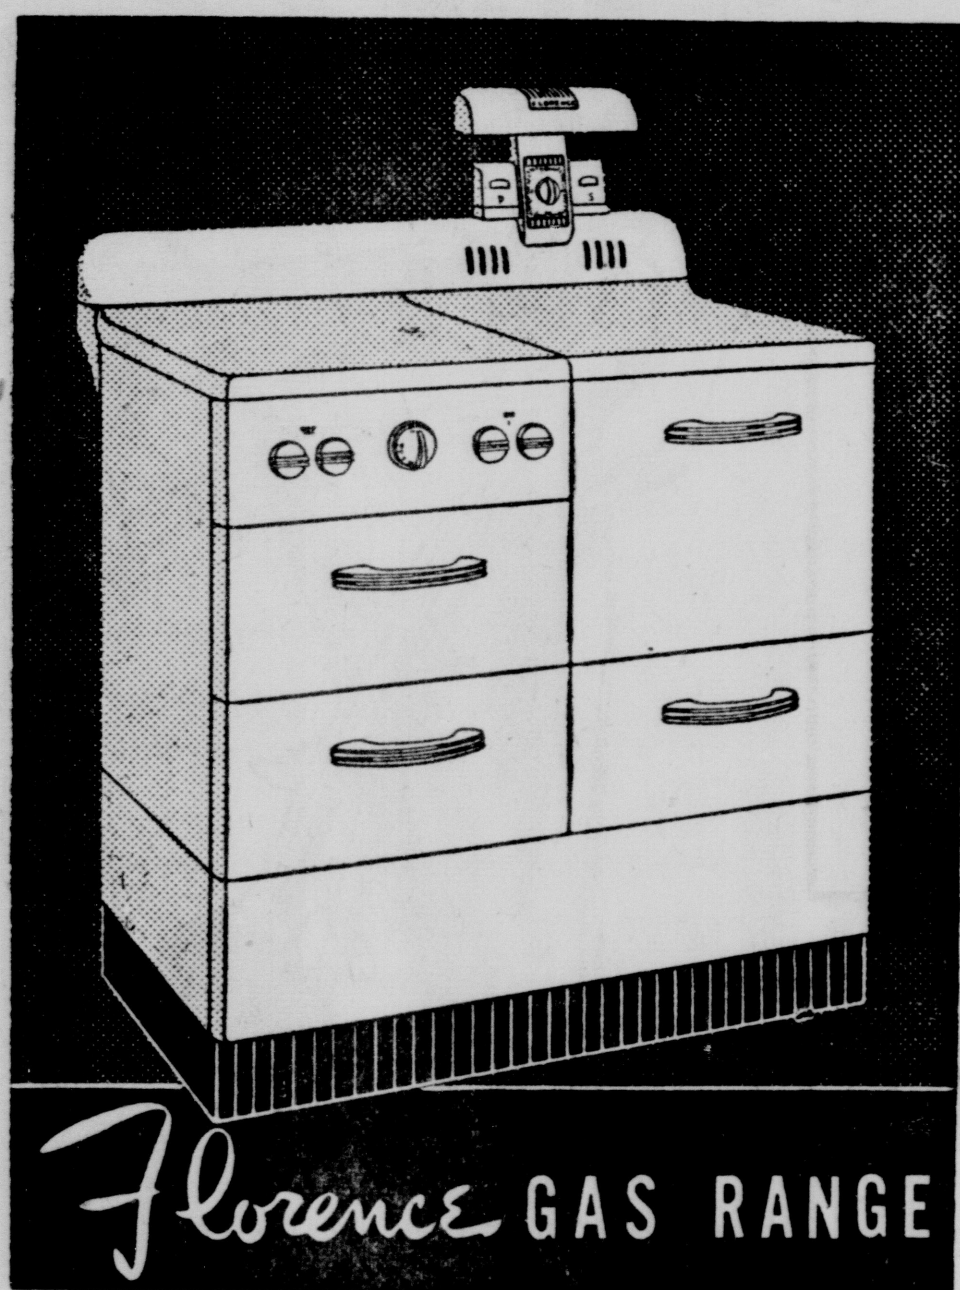

WITH THEIR SAVINGS, we can build the large quantities of new telephone plant needed to improve and expand telephone service in Missouri.

That's why we have asked for a rate increase... to improve earnings... to attract the capital... to bring the people of Missouri the kind and amount of telephone service they need and want.

Radioactive Sulphur

Traces Citrus Burn
VANCOUVER, Canada — (AP)—Radioactive sulfur tracers and a Geiger counter are used in the University of California to learn how sulfur burns citrus fruits. This knowledge may be useful to make safe such popular insecticides as sulfur dust and lime-sulfur sprays.

The methods were reported at the annual meeting of the Pacific Division of the American Association of the Advancement of Science. The report was based on work done by Dr. F. M. Turrell and Marcella Chervenak of the College of Agriculture's Experiment Station, Riverside.

Junior Legion Won District Tournament

Sedalia Team Will Play in Zone Tourney July 15

The Sedalia Junior Legion Post 16 baseball team won the right to go to the zone tournament at Hannibal by defeating the Lexington Junior Legion team by a score of 8 to 6 in an eleven inning Fourth of July game played at Lexington.

It was a hard fought game all the way, with each team making two errors. Sedalia collected 13 hits off the offerings of Park and Jenkins. Jenkins was the losing pitcher.

Ray went all the way for Sedalia, allowing nine hits. Nold was the catcher for Post 16.

McCrory was the leading hitter for Sedalia, getting four hits for five, of which one was a triple. Jenkins hit a triple for Lexington.

McCallister knocked a homer in the fifth for Lexington, while Ruffin slammed one in the seventh inning with one runner on base. Morgan made several nice plays at third base.

In the first of a three game series Sedalia defeated Lexington at Liberty park Saturday night by a score of 12 to 3. The Sedalia team is now representative for District Seven at the zone tournament in Hannibal on July 15.

Sedalia Junior Legion whizzed through 8 games in the eastern half of the district undefeated.

Eldon Wins in Ninth Inning

Eldon nosed out the Smithton Hornets 5 to 4 with a ninth inning rally in a game played Sunday afternoon at Eldon. Rapp for Smithton and Hanley and Jeffries for Eldon kept the game confined to a pitching duel as each team amassed only six hits.

Rapp gave up two of the six hits in the last of the ninth. These hits, coupled with an error broke the 4 to 4 deadlock and gave Eldon the victory.

Ralph Thomas, Smithton's leading hitter, drove in two runs in the eighth with a hard single. Rapp gave only one earned run and doubled once in three turns at bat.

Athletics Beat Knob Noster 16-3

The Sedalia Athletics defeated the Knob Noster Merchants Sunday afternoon by a score of 16 to 3 for their 12th victory of the season against four defeats. Bus Walker was on the mound for Sedalia, holding Knob Noster hitless in the last five innings. Marvin Blaine was on the hill for Knob Noster until in the ninth, when the Athletics racked up their big scoring inning. He was relieved by Arvitt after Blaine allowed 10 batters to face him with only one out.

Knob Noster scored four runs in the third inning on three hits and two errors, and in the fourth on two hits, two walks and an error.

The Athletics scored 11 runs on three singles, five doubles, two walks, an error all in the ninth inning.

Livingood, Jacobs, Wolf and Walker each scored three hits. Fischer and B. Elwell secured three hits each for Knob Noster.

Sedalia Blues Dropped Game To Marshall

Benefit Game to Be Played For Baker, Who Was Injured

The Sedalia Blues, after winning six straight home games, dropped Sunday's game to the Marshall Merchants by a score of 10-5.

Hugh Baker, the Blues left fielder broke his right ankle, sliding into second base in the first inning. He was taken to the Bethwell hospital, where he was released that night.

On Sunday, July 10, the Blues will play a benefit game with the proceeds to go to Baker. The Blues will meet the Ricks club of Kansas City.

The Blues scored three runs in the first inning on a walk to Stocum, single by C. Poynter, a triple by Barr, and a single by H. Baker. R. Poynter relieved Baker in the first inning.

Spriggs made the score 3 to 1 when he homered to deep centerfield. The Blues came back in the last of the second inning, scoring one run on Lopp Barnes' long homer to deep centerfield.

The Blues made the score 5 to 1 in the third inning, when Barr knocked in Wall who had singled to open the inning.

Two Run Homer
Marshall took advantage of two errors in the fourth that was good for one run, then in the 6th Webb's two run homer put the score 5 to 4.

The Merchants made the score stand 7 to 5 in the seventh inning on an error, double by Larm, singles by H. Hays, Thorp and Hall.

Marshall scored three more runs in the eighth on a single by Larm, an error, triples by B. Hays and Thorp.

Larm was the leading hitter for Marshall receiving 3 for 5, while Barr for Sedalia got three for four.

Larm started for Marshall, but was relieved in the fifth inning by Webb, who pitched one-hit ball from then on.

Schultz started for Sedalia and was relieved in the seventh by Barnes, who in turn gave way to Barr in the ninth inning.

Score by innings: 10102 330-10 13 1 Sedalia 311000 000-5 7 3

Saints Hold a Scant Margin

By The Associated Press
St. Paul had a sweat grip on that slippery top-rung in the American Association flag race today. The Saints led Indianapolis by a scant one-half game after sweeping a doubleheader from Minneapolis while the Indians divided a pair with Louisville.

St. Paul took a 5 to 2 decision from Minneapolis in the Saints' park yesterday morning and then moved into the Miller's Nicollet park to score a 10 to 5 triumph. The two wins were St. Paul's 7th and 8th in nine games with their twin cities rival this season.

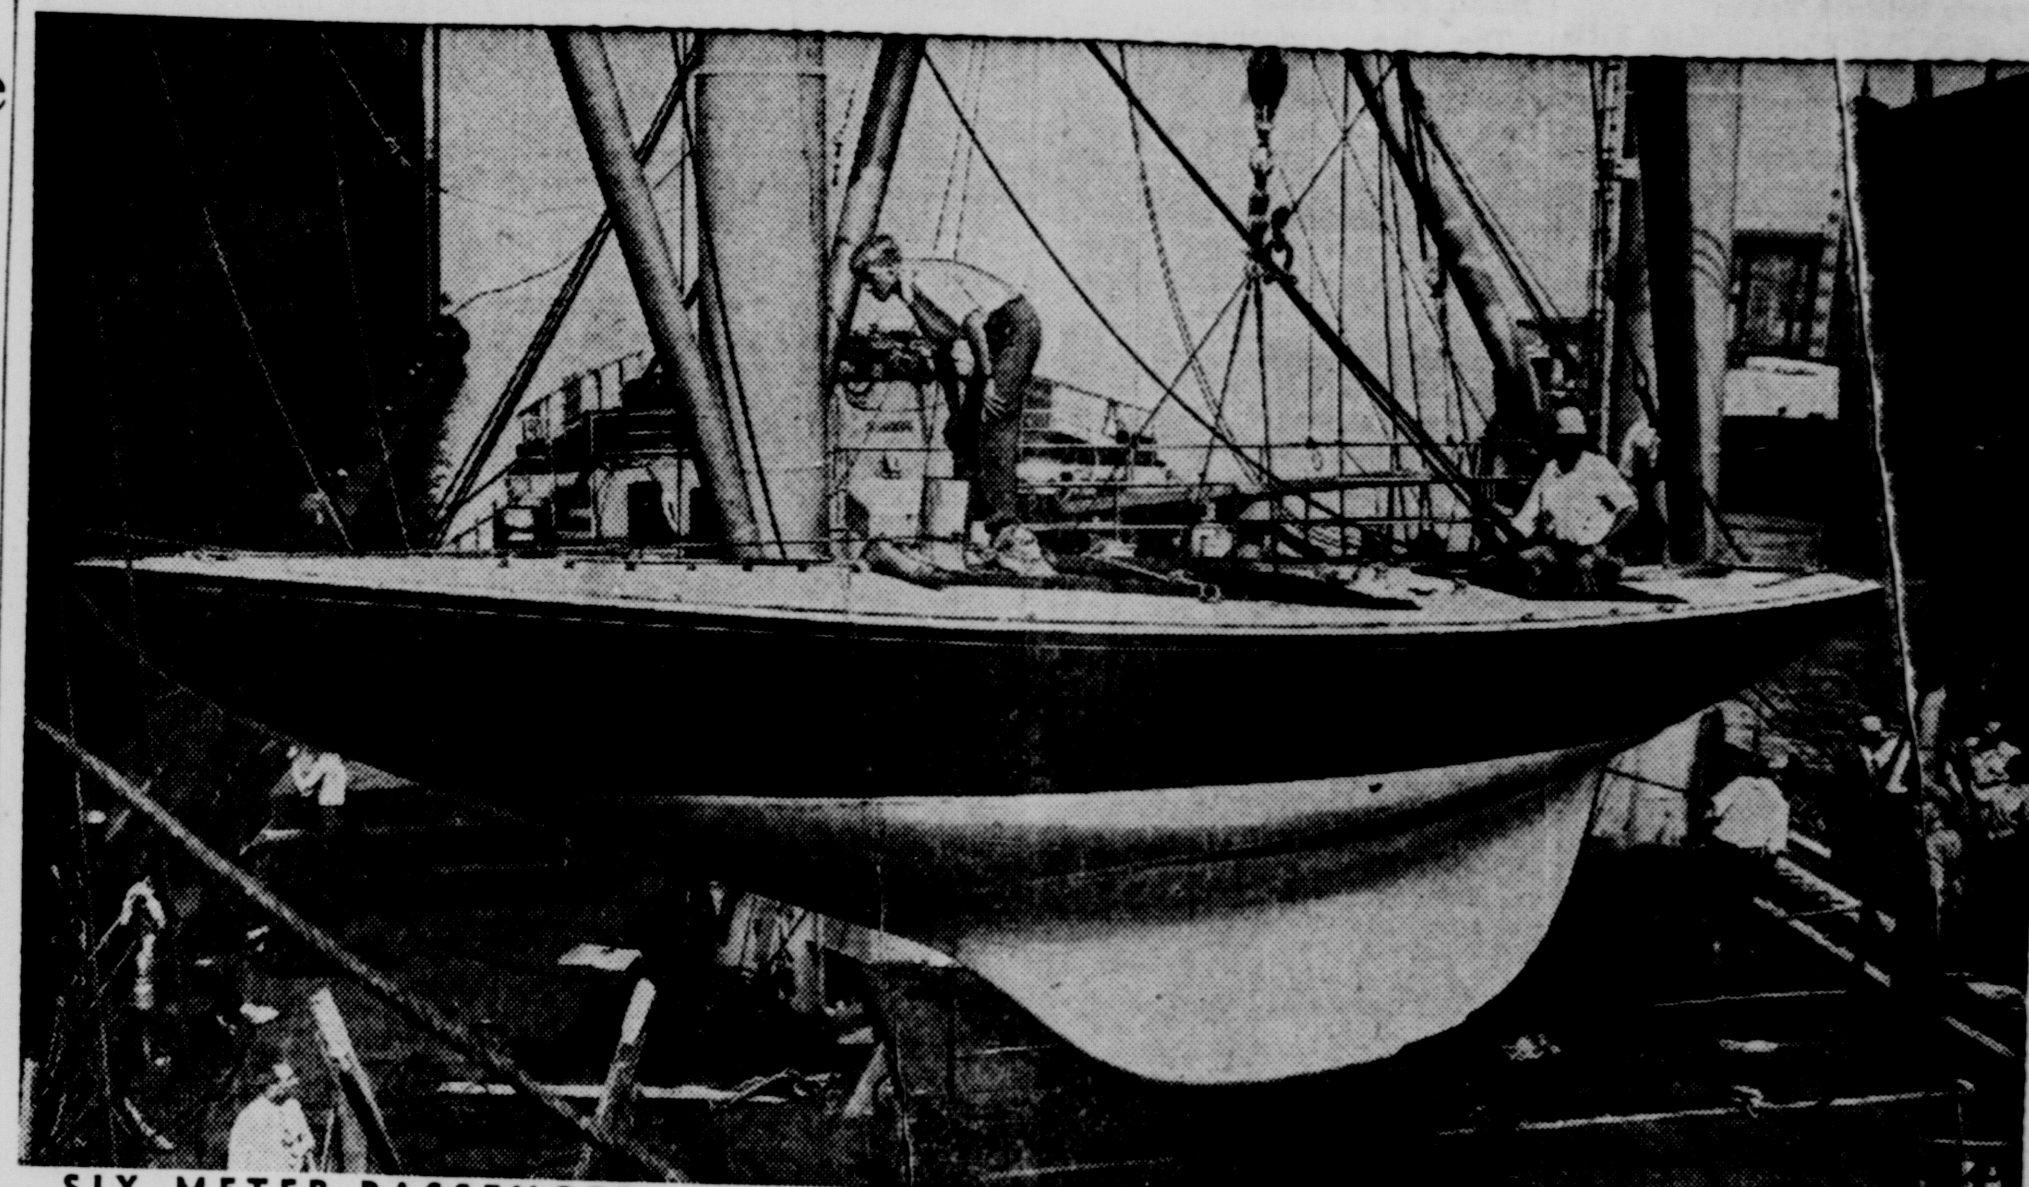

Phil Haugstad had an easy time in the morning contest registering his 11th victory of the season.

Benefitted by Wildness
Louisville benefited by Jim Walsh's wildness to take a 4 to 2 decision over Indianapolis in the nightcap after the Indians had pounded out a 14 to 9 triumph in the nine inning opener.

Loss stopped a 10-game winning streak for Walsh and tagged him with his second defeat of the season. He has won 11.

Milwaukee and Kansas City battled for six hours to divide honors.

Milwaukee took the first game 4 to 3 in 11 innings on the strength of home runs by Howie Moss, Jimmy Gleeson and Damon Phillips. Kansas City won the

Yankees And Dodgers Lead Way in Majors

Yanks Have a 4 1/2 Game Lead in American League

By Jack Hand (Associated Press Sports Writer)

The Fourth of July has come and gone with the New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers still showing the way in the major league pennant races.

Tradition says the night of the Fourth is the telltale date. If you lead them, you can start building new stands for the World Series. Actually it's right only about 50 per cent of the time.

The return of Joe Di Maggio to the Yankee lineup after he missed the first 65 games because of a heel injury continues to spark the league leaders. Since joining Joe came back they have won seven of eight, including five straight over the respected Boston Red Sox.

The Yanks have a 4 1/2 game lead over the Philadelphia A's.

Di Maggio's Homer
The Yankees' Vic Raschi went all the way to win the opener, 3-2, for his 13th victory of the season at the expense of Walt Masterson. In the second Joe Di Maggio's homer pulled the Yanks up into a tie in the fifth and Billy Johnson's single with the bases loaded in the seventh provided the winning 6-4 margin for Reliever Willard Marshall over Mel Parnell. The second game was delayed by rain and finally was called because of darkness after seven and a half innings.

The Athletics kept pace by trimming Washington 9-7 and 8-0 with little Bobby Shantz. Mack's 5 foot 7 inch southpaw, pitching a 10-hit shutout in the second.

Cleveland Won Twin Bill
Cleveland beat Detroit twice, 3-2 and 7-3. Bobby Feller squeaked through in the first game with relief help from Satchel Paige after he was lifted for a pinch hitter.

Homers by Dick Kokos and Gerry Priddy gave the St. Louis Browns a 4-2 victory and an even break with the Chicago White Sox who rapped the Browns twice by 15 hits, including two doubles by George Metkovich in the 12-5 first game.

Branch Rickey collected twice at Brooklyn as the Dodgers won a morning and afternoon game from Philadelphia, boosting their lead over St. Louis to two full games.

Preacher Roe just missed a shutout in the 7-1 morning game when Willie Jones nattered with two out in the ninth. Don Newcombe needed help from Jack Banta in the eighth inning to save an 8-4 decision in the second.

Lanier Was Unsuccessful
Max Lanier's return from "exile" in Mexico and Canada was not a success but the Cardinals rallied after Max was knocked out in the third inning to take Chicago, 9-4. Fred Martin, like Lanier another re-instated Mexican "jumper," was the official winner.

Bob Chipman stopped the Red Birds in the second game with an efficient shutout, 5-0, scattering four hits.

For a change, Billy Meyer got some pitching from his Pittsburgh staff and the Pirates copped two from Cincinnati, 2-1 and 1-0 to move ahead of the Reds into

Snead is Year's Money Winner Among Golfers

WASHINGTON, July 5—(P)—Sam Snead is back in front as the biggest money winner of the year among the golf pros.

He moved into first place yesterday when he won the Washington star open golf tournament, and picked up the $2,600 first prize.

This boosted his year's earnings to $16,460.83, and enabled him to pass Cary Middlecoff, of Memphis, who had been in the top spot. Middlecoff won second and $1,900 and now has $16,149.57 for the year.

Snead started the day tied for first with E. J. "Ditch" Harrison of Little Rock, at 202.

Two strokes back was Middlecoff. Four strokes back was Skip Alexander of Lexington, N. C., the champion here last year.

And here's the way the leaders shot:
Snead 70; Middlecoff 70; Alexander 69; Harrison 75.

sixth place. Cliff Chambers allowed only two hits in the first game.

Bill Werle yielded seven singles enroute to his shutout victory.

The Braves moved into a third place tie with the Phillies, 5 1/2 games behind the Dodgers, by splitting two with the N. Y. Giants. Tommy Holmes' second homer of the day launched a 4-run rally in the last of the ninth that pulled out the second game for the Braves, 8-7. The Giants panged out 17 hits in the 11-4 first game.

Attendance Dropped At Big League Games

NEW YORK, July 5—(P)—The holiday is over, and so—temporarily at least—are the days of record-breaking business if you ask big league baseball and race track operators.

Attendance at eight major league ball parks yesterday showed a decline of about five per cent from Independence Day last year, which was celebrated on Monday, July 5. And eleven race tracks fared even worse, dropping 19 per cent in crowds and betting.

The holiday doubleheaders attracted 256,781 fans, or 13,143 less than in 1948, when the count was 269,924.

A total of 230,003 racing enthusiasts bet $11,325,766. Last year attendance hit 285,332 and betting, $14,089,735 at ten tracks. The decrease in crowds thus came to 55,329 and wagering dropped $2,763,969.

Lincoln brings you automatic shifting
with HYDRA-MATIC!

NO GEARS TO SHIFT!
NO CLUTCH TO PRESS!
SIMPLE AS 1-2-3!

The 1949 LINCOLN COSMOPOLITAN SPORT SEDAN
While side-wall fins, road lamps, and HYDRA-MATIC transmission optional at extra cost

1 START THE ENGINE
just as you always have! But forget the clutch pedal now! For there isn't any clutch pedal—in a 1949 Lincoln or Lincoln Cosmopolitan with HYDRA-MATIC!

2 SET THE "DRIVE"
There's a "Drive Selector"—in place of the gearshift. Set it at the "Drive" position. Your HYDRA-MATIC transmission does all the shifting for you automatically! Then...

3 STEP ON THE ACCELERATOR
and go—with a smooth, sweeping surge of power! To slow down or stop, just step on the brake. That's how simple it is to drive any new 1949 Lincoln—with HYDRA-MATIC!

SPECIAL NEW "SALON STYLING"

Lincoln now proudly presents the most beautifully fashioned automobile interiors in the world! All with superb new tailoring... completely new upholstery fabrics... smart new body colors... and exclusive, new "Salon Styling" that makes the 1949 Lincolns more than ever America's most distinctive fine cars—inside and out! Come see them today.

There's Life in Old Salt Lake
SALT LAKE CITY—(P)—The Great Salt Lake is not entirely without life, although it is several times saltier than ocean water. Analyses have shown the salt content to range through the years from less than 13 to about 27 per cent. Because of the salt a swimmer cannot sink in the lake. Minute brine shrimp, various larvae, insects and algae live in the water.

Plan Saving For Freshmen

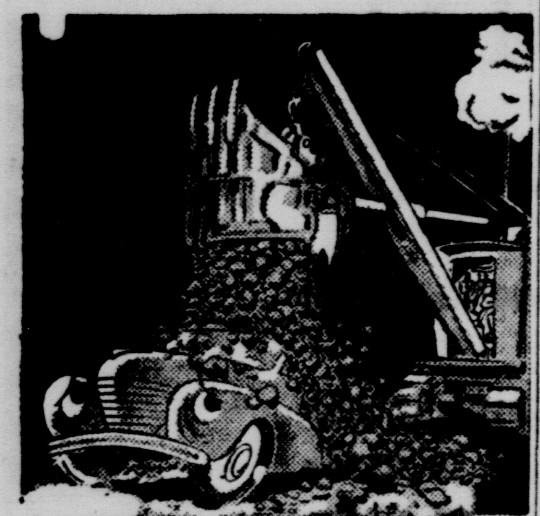

The University of Missouri has announced a plan to save time and expense for freshmen students desiring to enter the College of Agriculture next fall. Representatives of the University will visit fifteen convenient area centers during July to register new students without requiring an advance trip to Columbia.

This new plan applies only to freshmen enrolling for the first time and desiring to take courses in agriculture, home economics, forestry or pre-veterinary medicine.

The enrollment center for this area will be the Public Library in Sedalia on 3rd Street and Kentucky avenue, on July 26.

To prospective students in Pettis County, the following suggestions are offered by County Agent Roy I. Copley.

"If you have not already sent

You Wouldn't Do This To Your Car... but down underneath it takes a worse beating

Your car's underparts take a brutal pounding from rocks and gravel hurled at buffed speed against bare metal. "UNDER-SEAL," the 1/2" thick rubberized underbody coating, protects your car from this excessive punishment.

In addition, "UNDERSEAL" seals off dust, heat, cold and fumes; protects against rust and corrosion; makes your car ride quieter, last longer.

Bring your car in today for an "UNDER-SEAL" job. And remember, "UNDERSEAL" is guaranteed to last for the life of your car.

CLIPPED ANGEL

Copyright, 1949, NEA SERVICE, INC.

By Clive Grieron Cornish

THIS STORY: Mike McTag, a mining engineer who had been planning a vacation, meets Cory Parnell, beautiful, high-spirited daughter of an old mine friend, who had inherited the Dark Angel after her father's death. Cory wants Mike to find out why her mine has fallen off in gold production. Mike is at first patronizing—having his own ideas about women and mines—and then he is treated to a display of Parnell's temper which leads him to change his vacation plans and go to the Dark Angel for a few days. At the mine he meets Uncle Jake Wisniewski, manager of the mill, and Archie Trask, who is in charge of everything underground. Mike is convinced the mine is playing out and Cory reveals that she has received an offer for the mine that will "pay off the men." The three or four million her father was supposed to have had had been lost on oil operations before his death, Cory says. She is nearly broke.

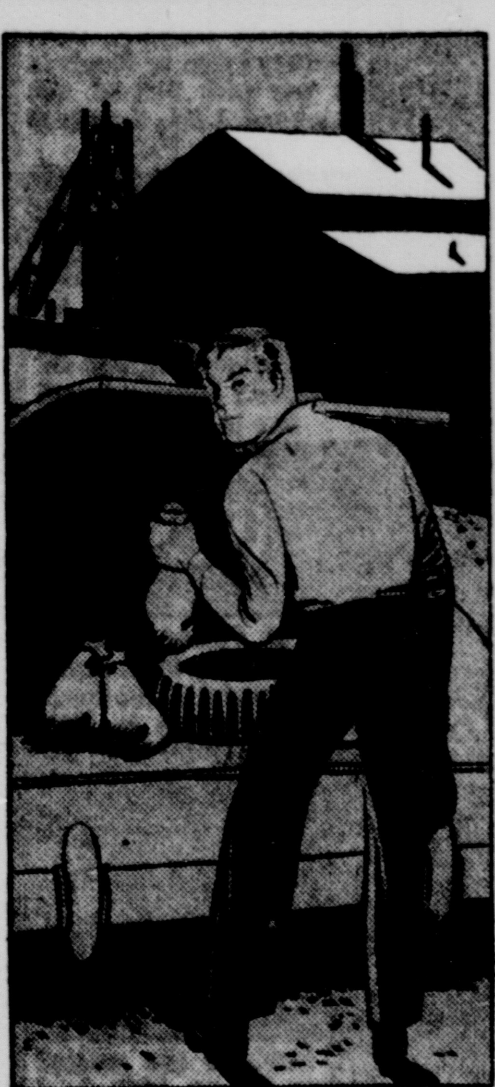

I WENT through the mine that afternoon with Archie Trask, and the first thing I did was take chip samples across the working faces in each level.

A chip sample is what it sounds like: you start at one side of the vein with a hammer and you work your way across, the chips falling into your canvas sample bag as you go. You mix them all together, grind them up, and you have a pretty fair average for the vein.

In this case I had to be extra careful because the real paystreak was a narrow band six inches wide, next the footwall. The rest of the vein was low-grade, flocked here and there with chalcocite but probably not worth the cost of mining if it had been by itself.

But that paystreak, what there was of it, was a beautiful thing—real high-grade, with plenty of boronite and chalcocite. My job was to be sure I didn't take too much and throw off the average.

Trask was with me and he rattled off figures. "Two dollars a ton across 3 1/2 feet, $25 a ton across six inches. Works out around $5 average. What Cory forgets is that in the old days that streak of high-grade was wider."

I dumped the stuff in the rumble of Cory's convertible before I went over to the boarding house to eat.

When we'd finished we took the bags over to the assay shed, where Trask introduced me to a youngster named Riggs. I asked Riggs a few questions and he seemed to know his stuff. He thought he could give me the results by noon tomorrow.

"Well," I said to Trask, "thanks for your help. And now I think I'll just roam around the workings and get the geology of the place straightened out in my mind." "Sure thing, Mr. McTag. I'll be in the mine office if you want me."

He set out for the office and I went underground again. I was glad he was out of the way, because he seemed a nice young chap and what I was going to do might have hurt his feelings.

I went right back to the stope we had just left. The crews were surprised to see me back so soon, but not greatly—miners think all engineers are slightly nuts.

I took four new sets of samples, one from each face, tied the bags and put them in the rumble of Cory's convertible. That evening I'd drive Cory to Driscow, 20 miles away, where I could send out the bags by express on the Pacific Northern. Not that I didn't trust Riggs. It was just a matter of principle. Then I went to eat.

THE road between Dark Angel and Driscow would be called a trail in any other part of the country, so we didn't talk much on the way. Cory sat outside while I went into the station, prepaid the charges and wrote out shipping tags. Then I went back outside, got the stuff out of the rumble and carried it over to the counter.

I asked the agent where the nearest phone was and he pointed to an old-fashioned party-line affair in a corner. I cranked the handle, and you could hear receivers being lifted all the way up the valley. Finally I got through to Effie at her home.

"I'm sending some stuff in," I said. "Copper, gold and silver. Phone me at the Dark Angel when you get the figures."

"Okay. And, look, what about

"Take it easy," I said, "you're on the air."

Effie is a bright girl. "Okay," she said, "I'll look after it."

Decline in the Production of Milk Noted

Lack of Balance In Pasture on one Farm Cause There

"Our cows are dropping in milk and fat production. What can I do about it?" This phone call came to the Agricultural Extension office about ten days ago.

A visit was made to the farm to see what the cause might be. Usually June is a month of high production of milk and fat. Tests usually are lower in flush seasons but high fat production continues due to high milk production.

One thing found out on this farm is that cows usually are dry only about 1 month as compared to a recommended period of 6 weeks to 2 months. A high producing cow is a heavy worker. High production for 10 months draws heavily on the cows system. She needs a 6 weeks to 2 months period to build up reserve flesh before another 10 month high production period.

The production on this farm likely will be much lower in July and August. A lack of balance of pasture is on this farm. There is about twice the acreage of bluegrass needed for May and June. Usually blue grass provides little nutrient in July and August. The top dairymen provides either, probable both, lespedeza and Sudan for all of this period up to September when rye, barley or sweet clover is available. The blue grass if in right balance then is not pastured from early July till winter.

Would Provide Pasture On this farm where production was going down and where twice the acreage of blue grass for May and June were available, only a small acreage of lespedeza was available and this is to be cut for hay. No Sudan was seeded. A sizable acreage of small grain had no legume seeded with it. Hal lespedeza been seeded, about 11 acre per cow, in this small grain, excellent pasture would be available as soon as the small grain is removed.

In Balanced Farming this item of ample pasture from April to December is given careful consideration. A few changes here and there increases the output of the farm and the income of the farmer which will provide cash that may be used to start a terracing program which most farms need and this particular farm is no exception.

Blue grass pasture is an excellent pasture for two periods May and June and winter. Other crops in these two months will yield more grass per acre, but a blue grass sod can be pastured when other pasture land is too wet for animals to be on during these 2 months and short periods in the fall. True, blue grass sod as compared to other pasture, holds soil in place better. But a well balanced program means enough extra income to pay the cost of terracing.

Unconscious Thieves

HAMBURG, Germany — (AP) — Two thieves crept into a Westphalian pig sty and tried to chloroform the 300-pound occupant. The farmer was disturbed by the porker's grunts.

When he reached the sty he found the pig still conscious with the two thieves unconscious beside him. They had been knocked out by their own chloroform.

WASHINGTON, July 5 — It has been exactly 10 years since this column exposed the Louisiana scandals, resulting in the imprisonment of Gov. Richard Leche and various members of the old Huey Long gang.

Today, the Long family and friends have staged an amazing comeback. Huey's brother, Earl, is governor of the state. Huey's son, Russell, is U. S. senator from Louisiana. So the other day I went back to Louisiana — just 10 years after writing the first column on the Louisiana scandals — to see how the rebuilt Long machine is handling its comeback.

Things have changed a lot in 10 years. The name in the governor's mansion is still spelled "L-o-n-g," but the atmosphere is much different. It's calmer, less spectacular and far more serious.

Earl Long is giving the state such an even keel administration that it's almost humdrum. The city of New Orleans, under young Mayor De Lesseps Morrison is still rowing with the Long machine, but the row lacks the melodrama and bellicose pyrotechnics of Huey's day.

Most interesting development is the way many of the old Huey crowd have staged quiet comebacks. Seymour Weiss, former Democratic national committeeman, who went to jail for income-tax evasion, is now back running the Roosevelt hotel in New Orleans and going out of his way to be a patriotic citizen. Everyone respects Seymour's quiet comeback.

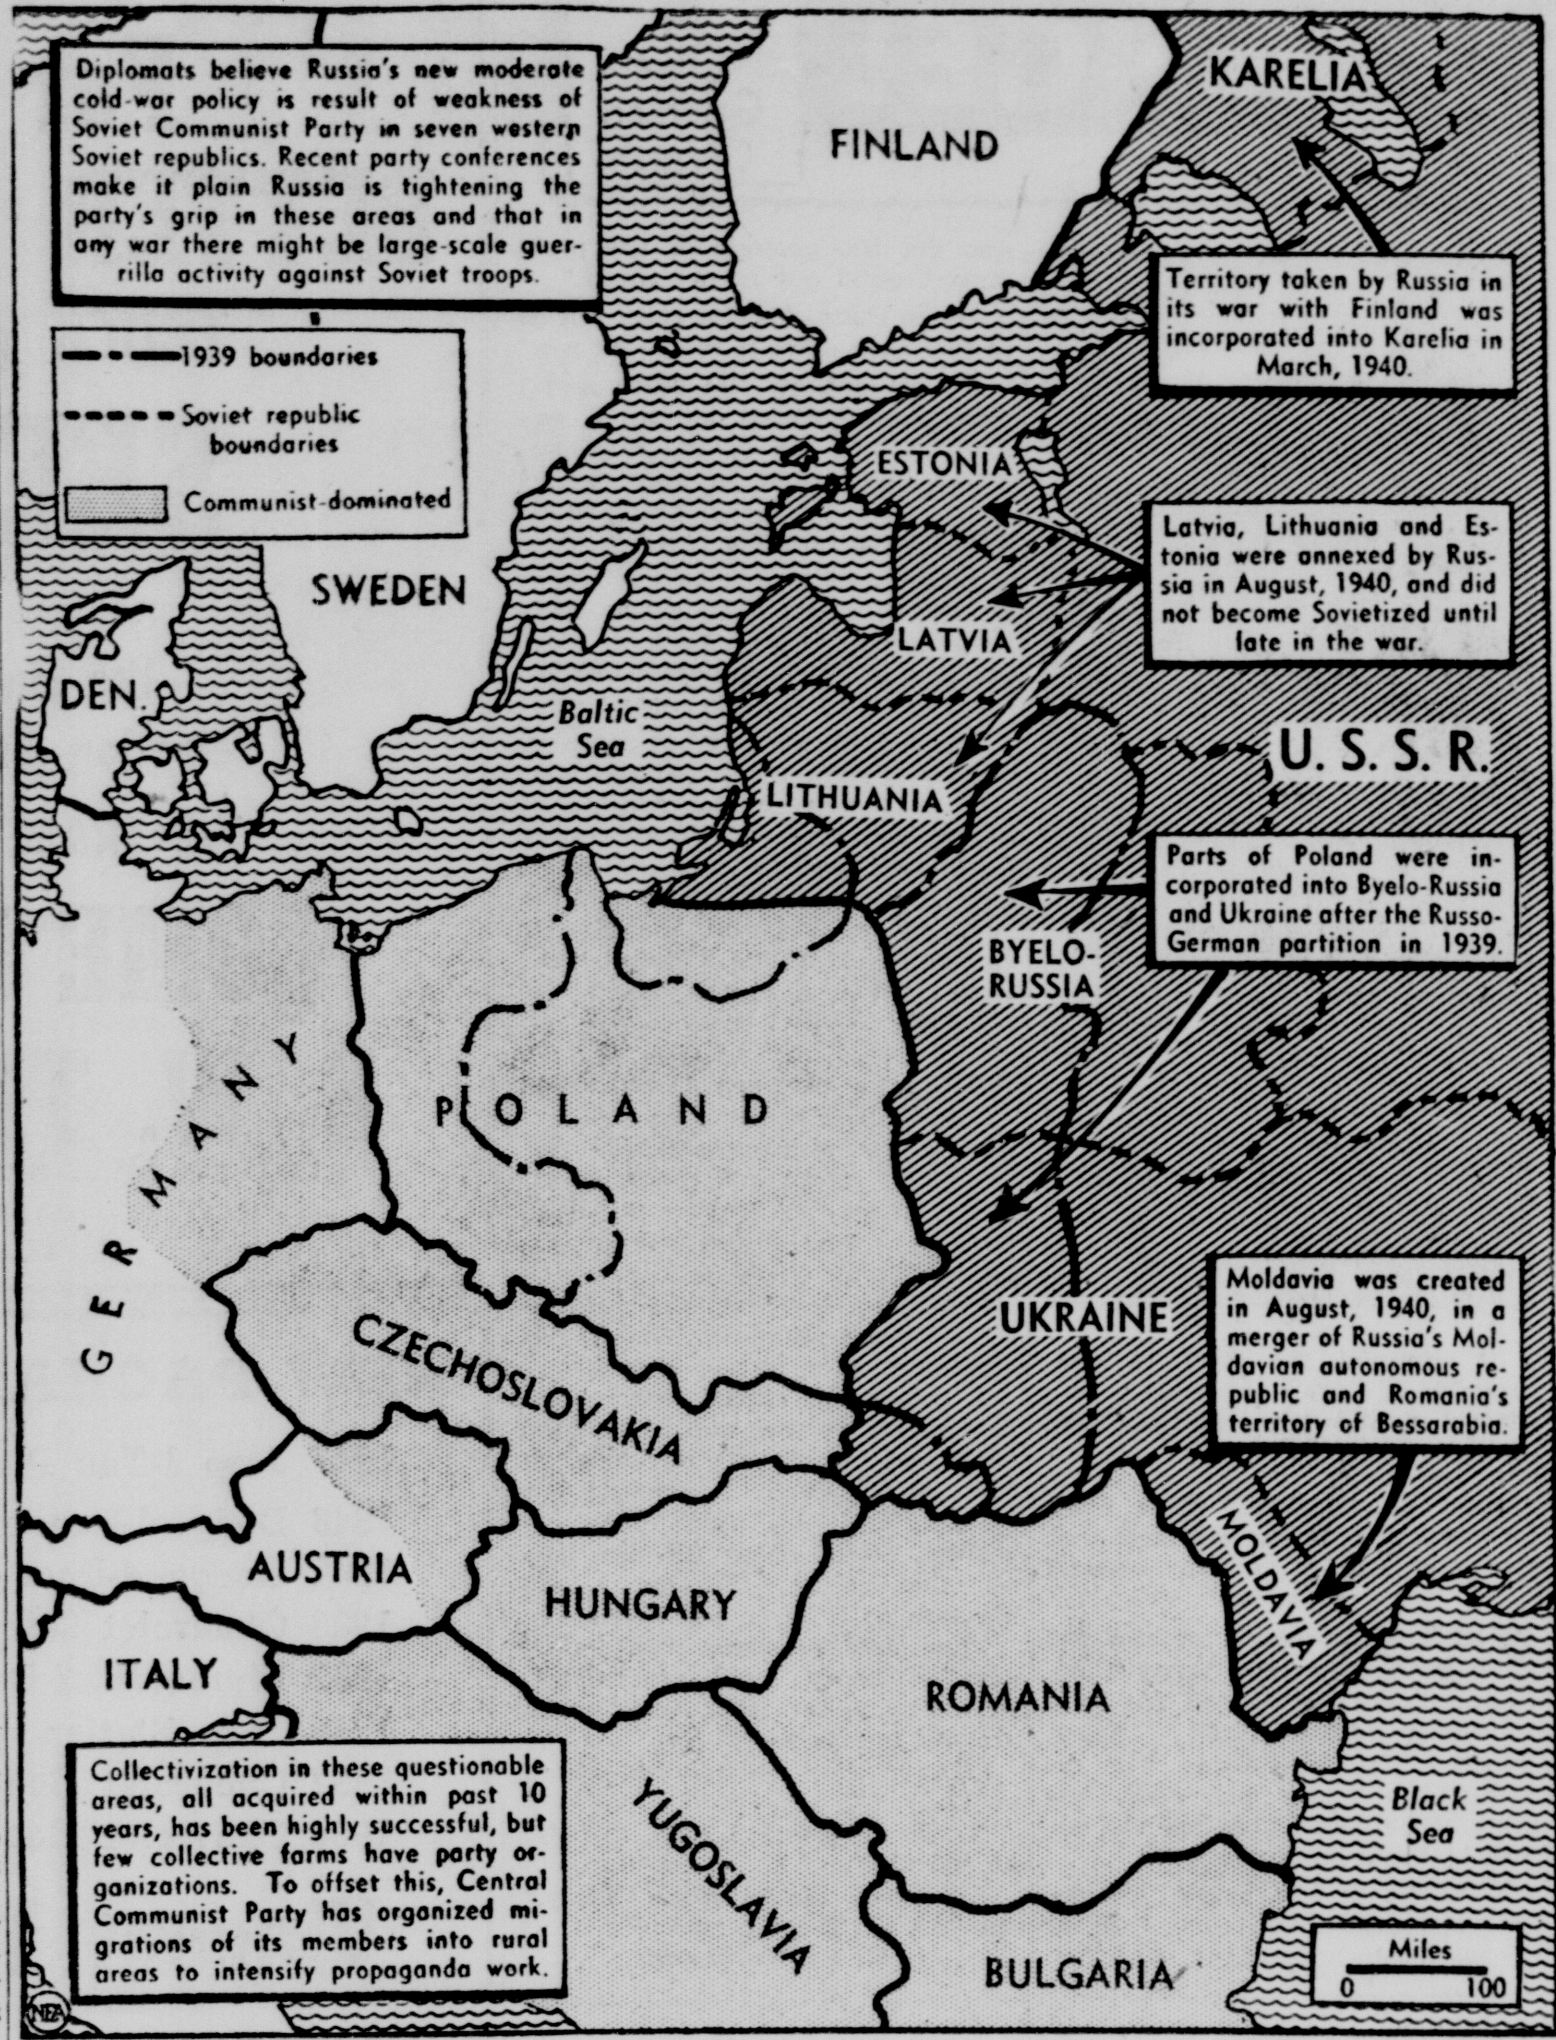

Leche Raises Flowers

Governor Leche, who got 10 years for taking bribes, is living on his farm near Covington and raising flowers. His garden is so unique that tourists pay 75 cents to visit it.

Dr. J. Monroe Smith, former president of Louisiana State university, who got 30 years for embezzling university funds, is dead now. But before he died he was given a chance, as rehabilitation officers at the state penitentiary at Angola, to help others who had suffered his misfortune.

Gov. Long was criticized for giving Doc Smith this job, but when Doc got out of jail he was refused a real estate license, found himself unable to make a living and pled with the governor to send him back to the penitentiary where he could help rebuild others.

WANTED: By Joe Stalin. More Communists—

London political sources think one factor in Russia's recent moderate policy is the weakness of the Soviet Communist party in strategic areas of western Russia. Map shows these seven republics, all comparative newcomers in the Soviet Union. Kremlin is particularly concerned over scarcity of party members in agricultural districts. On most collective farms there is not a single Communist. In Latvia, only 1.6 of the collectives have party organizations. Moscow, said to fear that in any war there would be real danger of large scale guerrilla activity against Soviet troops in these rural areas, is intensifying a campaign to increase Communist Party strength there.

Dr. Smith knew something about the difficulty of staging a comeback and thought he was qualified for this job, so the governor appointed him. He died, however, before very long in office.

Then there was George Caldwell, who went to jail for stealing WPA materials and padding WPA payrolls. He is now the leading building contractor in Baton Rouge. Abe Shushan, who built the New Orleans airport, is now back in the business of being an honest man. Monty Hart, of all those convicted, failed to stage a comeback. He committed suicide.

Huey Was Honest
It was always my belief that Huey Long — and I knew him well — was honest. He soaked the big oil companies, taxed the utilities and squeezed campaign contributions out of all sorts of people. But the money went back into free schoolbooks, better roads and a network of bridges that have left a lasting mark on the state.

Huey's brother Earl is a quiet, easygoing farmer, just the opposite of his brother's high-strung, ripsnorting bundle of nerves which once made Louisiana the most spotlighted state in the union.

Earl also has followed a soak-the-rich policy, induced his legislature to pass a heavy tax against the oil companies, put through free lunches for all the school children regardless of their means, and has increased Negro school teachers' pay from 70 to $200 a month if they have a B. A. degree.

"The only way to have compulsory education is with free books and free lunches," says Governor Long, who has no children of his own. "Kids can't study when they're hungry and an awful lot of kids down our way just don't get enough to eat."

Earl Long discusses his late brother quite frankly.

"The oil companies hated Huey," he says. "He taxed 'em and they hated him. I have taxed them too, but they have taken it out more on Russell than on me."

Senator Long

He referred to his nephew Russell, now U. S. senator from Louisiana.

"In fact, every mistake I make Russell gets blamed for," continued the senator's uncle. "Russell's going to make a good senator. He has all of Huey's good points and none of his bad."

"Huey wanted money for power," explained Earl. "He never wanted it for himself. As for me, I don't need money because I'm retiring from this job when my term is up."

Those who know Governor Long say he means it, that he would rather be on his farm than in the governor's mansion and that even now he spends every spare minute he can slip away from Baton Rouge on his farm.

I got into a discussion of farm methods with the governor.

"A pig," he said, "won't put on weight if it's unhappy. And a pig that is kept in cramped, dirty quarters is unhappy. A pig likes to keep himself clean just as much as a human being."

When you coop him up in a lot of filth, he just doesn't put on weight."

I told the governor that I was going to quote him to my wife who was still irked at the ornate hog barn I had built featuring running water and upstairs duplex sleeping quarters. The governor allowed that it would be almost worth a trip to Washington to see this and we both agreed that women folk didn't really appreciate the importance of comfort and cleanliness in the life of a hog.

Violent Death Toll High

National Safety Council Calls Holiday Accidents Disgrace to Country

By The Associated Press
The worst accidental death toll in the history of the nation's observance of Independence Day was recorded today. The national safety council called the total a "disgrace to a civilized country."

Late tabulations showed a record 682 persons killed in violent accidents during the three-day week-end.

The grim report on the nation's fatalities showed 302 traffic deaths, 245 drownings and 135 deaths in violent accidents. The country-wide survey covered violent deaths from 6 p. m. local time Friday to midnight Monday.

The toll this year smashed the previous record of 628 accidental deaths set during the three-day celebration of the Fourth of July in 1941. Last year, 571 deaths were reported over the three-day period.

Millions on Highway
Millions took to the highways for resorts this year to escape sweltering heat. Traffic deaths led the figures, while drownings followed. The National Safety Council had estimated that 290 persons would die in traffic mishaps.

The council's president, Ned H. Dearborn, said in a statement today that a humanitarian and civilized nation must sacrifice more than 650 lives to celebrate a holiday dedicated to a free-secure and happy people.

"Most of the traffic deaths over the holiday week-end were due directly or indirectly to cheating on traffic rules and to poor sportsmanship," Dearborn added. "A show-off attitude also was responsible for drowning deaths."

Drowning Toll High
This year's drowning toll broke the record 192 established in 1948. The survey showed no fatalities from fireworks.

Michigan led the drowning totals with 26 persons. New York reported 21 drowned.

The death toll was heaviest in Texas, where 47 died in violent accidents, New York and Michigan each reported 46 deaths. But there were no violent deaths reported in Nevada or the District of Columbia. Cook county (Chicago) Illinois reported one fatality—beheaded a record low.

'Why Success Or Failure In The Child'

Topic of Talk Given Today at Optimist Club

Col. L. B. Wikoff, secretary-treasurer of Wentworth Military Academy spoke to the Sedalia Optimist club at its noon luncheon at the Bothwell hotel today. Col. Wikoff's topic, "Why Success or Failure in the Child," was taken from studies made by Dr. Luther Purdom, Director of Placement and Personnel Advisor at Michigan university. He stated that there is always a reason for behavior and when that reason is determined, progress toward the solution of the individual problems can be started. According to Col. Wikoff, it is first necessary to determine what the successful boy has that is lacking in the unsuccessful boy. The studies of Dr. Purdom indicated that there were some 18 critical points to be considered:

1. Definite objective and motivation is generally apparent in the successful boy. What the objective is or what the motivation is, is not too essential, but the preparation for that objective is very important. He must receive advice and strong direction but free from dictation for dictation can ruin the next point.

2. Initiative and Responsibility. The successful boy must acquire the habit of getting things done. Each job should be completed regardless of how trivial it may seem. In as much as the parent cannot drive or dominate the boy all of his life the parent should make the boy think.

3. Good recreation and amusement. The boy must have something worth while to do in his free time. Recreation, temperate sports, amusements must be directed along worthwhile lines.

4. Family life. Col. Wikoff stated that there are more poor parents than there are poor boys and that therefore poor parents are not the sole reason for poor boys but they are highly contributory. Family should get together at least once each day. Pride in the family should be instilled in the boy with the family working as a team. He stated that every father should take time off once in a while to get acquainted with the adolescent male who is his son.

Honesty of Purpose Necessary
5. Morals. A successful boy has honesty of purpose. His sense of proportions is right. He has an imagination but it is directed in the right channels.

6. Good habits. The successful boy has good habits of being where he is supposed to be at the time he should be there. He attains success by the habit of being successful.

7. Intelligence. According to Col. Wikoff, the I. Q. is somewhat (Please turn to page 4 column 1)

U. S. Has Halted Red Expansion

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., July 5.—(P)—America's growing military strength has halted Communist expansion in Europe, Lieut.-Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, former ambassador to Russia, said yesterday. He called the cold war a "contest of indefinite duration."

"It is not sufficient only to have the potential to defend ourselves if attacked," he said.

Now commanding general of the first army, Smith spoke at Independence day ceremonies marking the opening of a restored 18th century arsenal in this former colonial capital.

"Our strength must actually exist and be apparent to all if it is to serve its highest purpose—that of preventing war and assuring peace."

Smith found the United States has already taken important strides in that direction.

He said a realization that the nation's military strength is growing "has halted at least temporarily the tide of Communist expansion in Europe."

Search Home Where Woman Recluse Lives

PHILADELPHIA, July 5.—(P)—Authorities today awaited a court order permitting an intensified search of a home where they said a woman recluse lived like a beggar despite the fortune at her command.

A preliminary survey of the cluttered building yesterday revealed the woman was worth at least $200,000, authorities estimated, but she chose to live on a semi-starvation diet of bread and milk.

The woman, Mrs. Catherine S. Ritter, 79, was found dead Sunday on her trash-blanketed bed. The house was crammed with rubbish and litter.

Police said they suspected that somewhere in the maze would be found a clue to the whereabouts of possibly $100,000 Mrs. Ritter believed to have hidden away.

Police said rents collected from tenants of some 14 houses she owned were brought to her regularly. Neighbors told the investigators they knew virtually nothing of the woman except that she used a tiny vestibule as an "office" from which she conducted her outside contacts.

About two weeks ago two neighbors related Mrs. Ritter had opened the front door and sent them to a store to buy her bread and milk.

But it was at least a year since any one had seen her emerge from her home.

The investigation of Mrs. Ritter's death was started by neighbors who complained of "odors" coming from the house.

Police broke into the house and found the woman's body. They said she had been dead "about three or four days." Death was attributed to "natural causes."

Objects to Regimenting

GREENVILLE, S. C., July 5.—(P)—Former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes said "We do not want the Federal government regimenting our lives from the cradle to the grave."

He reiterated his stand against a "welfare state" and called on the United States to be strong militarily and economically in a speech yesterday to the South Carolina American Legion convention.

"We must remain strong economically," he declared. "Our first line of defense is not on the Rhine—it is a sound, safe American economy. That sound American economy is likewise the first line of defense of all democratic nations."

Sen. Connally Opens Senate Debate on Pact

Pleds For Quick Approval as Proof Of Nations Harmony

WASHINGTON, July 5.—(P)—Senator Connally (D-Tex) today opened Senate debate on the Atlantic Pact with a plea for swift approval as "unmistakable proof" that free nations will stand together against attack.

In the treaty, he said, "The free nations of the North Atlantic area lay before the nations of the world a noble declaration that no armed aggressor, no swaggering conqueror, no military despot shall invade the North Atlantic area."

The 20-year compact has been signed by the United States, Canada and 10 European nations, but it must be ratified by a two-thirds Senate vote before it becomes binding on this country. Fewer than a dozen senators are expected to oppose it.

Connally, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, urged his colleagues to stamp their approval on the alliance as quickly as possible.

Must Preserve Liberty
Liberty must be preserved even though "purchased in blood," he declared in his prepared speech. And he described the pact as "an effort to coordinate and consolidate that duty upon the group as a whole rather than to leave each individual country the hopeless task of defending itself."

But Connally insisted that the treaty does not automatically commit the United States to fight in case an ally is attacked.

He also made clear that no senator who votes for the pact will be bound to vote for the proposed $1,130,000,000 arms-for-Europe program.

President Truman has not yet sent the arms plan to Congress. Senate leaders have said it will be submitted after the Senate votes on the treaty.

Many Senators Critical
While opposition to the pact has been slight, there are many Senators critical of the related arms program.

One of these, Senator Taft (R-Ohio) has suggested a compromise under which Greece and Turkey would continue to get military supplies from this country, while France would be the only pact nation to receive such arms aid.

"I don't think the other treaty nations particularly need that kind of help now," he said.

Connally told the Senate that while the arms program and the pact "are inseparable" he hopes personally that both will be approved during this session of Congress. But he added:

"It is entirely possible, however, that even a strong supporter of the treaty might find good and legitimate reasons for opposing the military assistance program. This is a matter for each Senator to decide as he searches his own conscience and exercises his own honest judgment."

Cancer Victim Dies Unafraid

SAN DIEGO, Calif., July 5.—(P)—Forrest Warren met death unafraid, just as he said six weeks ago he would.

The 72-year old newspaperman columnist for the San Diego Daily Journal "just went to sleep" at 5 a. m. yesterday at his home.

Knowing he was dying of cancer, Warren told his readers about his approaching death in his column of May 17. He used the column as an appeal for the cancer fund research program. The Journal said the appeal had brought in $35,000 to date.

"His was as nearly a complete victory over death as any person I've ever known," said the Rev. Frank Linder of the First Methodist church. "He was utterly reconciled."

Warren was born at Vermillion, Kas., where he started his career as a printer's devil. He was a contemporary of William Allen White, famed Emporia editor and worked on various papers in Kansas, New Mexico and Texas. He came to San Diego in the 1920's.

Vivian Truman In Hospital

GRANDVIEW, Mo., July 5.—(P)—J. Vivian Truman, the president's brother, was hospitalized today by head injuries suffered in an Independence day accident.

He fell from a barn loft on the family farm while removing picnic tables from the loft. Truman was knocked unconscious in the eight-foot tumble.

Dr. John R. McKee, the family physician, said his condition was not critical.

Truman, who is district director of the federal housing administration, was reported resting comfortably today by hospital attendants.

Top of Bldg. Tumbles Down Five Killed

Three Injured Are Still Listed As Critical

PITTSBURGH, July 5.—(P)—The top of a building thundered down on a group of strolling pedestrians last night on northside Federal street, killing five persons and injuring seven.

Three of the injured were still listed as critical today at Allegheny General hospital.

"It was a terrifying thing," said Joe Devany, 32, who suffered a compound fractured leg. "I looked up and saw two big signs coming at me. Then the whole building seemed to come down."

The dead were Mrs. Rose G. Coco, 22, Pittsburgh, who died today; T. J. McGee, 60, retired Pennsylvania railroad worker; Charles Schmidt, 29, Donald Hanlon, 22, and Mrs. Viola Dickson, 39.

Critically hurt were John McDonough, 27, broken back; Forrest McAllister, 40, a fractured skull and David Stevens, 9, arm and leg fractures.

Blamed Collapse on Mortar
Fire Chief William Davis and building inspector George McK. Boileau blamed the collapse on disintegration of lime mortar. They said the mortar had turned to dust and no longer held the bricks together.

The accident occurred shortly before 10 p. m. in view of thousands of persons seeking relief from the intense 20-degree heat. Firemen and emergency police crews helped dig the victims from the debris.

Cooperating in Cutting Weeds

The property owners are cooperating splendidly, James I. Collins, city engineer, said this morning in regard to having weeds and grass cut on their properties.

City employees at the present time are cutting about 75 miles of weeds and grass along sidewalks and streets located near vacant lots. The 12-mile road district is also cutting weeds along streets and roads in the district.

Both the city engineer and the 12-mile road superintendent reported a great rapidity in the growth of weeds.

Mr. Collins said that many business places and property owners have contacted men who operate power-driven lawn-mowers to cut their weeds for the entire season.

Versailles Resident Seriously Hurt

Johnny Hibdon, aged 24, of Versailles, was seriously injured Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock when the Chevrolet truck he was driving overturned on the Soap Creek hill south of Versailles.

He was treated at the Gunn Clinic at Versailles and then taken to the Wadsworth Veterans hospital at Leavenworth, Kas. He suffered back and head injuries.

Sedalian One Of 3 Killed In Auto Wreck

Headon Collision Occurred Monday Night Near Nevada

NEVADA, Mo., July 5.—(P)—Two persons were in a critical condition at the hospital here today with injuries suffered in a head-on car collision last night in which three others were killed.

Listed as critical were Mrs. Marie Highberger, 27, Kansas City, and William Clayton Barker, 21, Miller, Mo. Ralph R. Highberger, 29, husband of Mrs. Highberger, was reported in a dangerous condition.

Killed were Homer Lee Barker, 27, a brother of William Clayton Barker; John A. McFarland, 30, a Kansas City trucking employee, and Miss Wilma Morgan, 36, of Kansas City. McFarland's home is in Sedalia, Mo.

Sheriff Leslie Hunt of Vernon county said the headon collision occurred about six miles south of Nevada on U. S. Highway 71 about 9:15 o'clock last night.

Believe McFarland Was Driving
Hunt said it was believed McFarland was the driver of the car in which the Highbergers were riding in the rear seat. The Barker brothers were driving south in a coupe. The driver of their car has not been determined.

Letters found in the Barker car, the sheriff said, indicated the young men were returning to their home from the Kansas wheat fields. The four in the other car were returning to Kansas City after a fourth of July trip to points near Bella Vista, Ark. The Barker car was demolished.

Mrs. Highberger suffered fractures of the skull and pelvis and a broken leg; Barker fractures of the skull, jaw and right leg, and Highberger a back fracture.

Killed Instantly
Miss Morgan, who was thrown from the car, was killed instantly. Homer Barker and McFarland died on the way to the hospital.

McFarland, who also was thrown from the car, suffered a punctured jugular vein. Homer Barker's injuries consisted of a fractured neck, skull and left arm and multiple lacerations. He had been trapped in the coupe when his brother was thrown out.

The Highbergers were removed from the other car by persons who gathered at the scene.

A coroner's inquest in the accident is to be held at 4 p. m. today by W. D. Thurman, Vernon county coroner.

Miss Morgan was the operator of a grill at Kansas City.

For the past year John McFarland, aged 29, has been employed by the Alkire Trucking company, of Kansas City, as a driver. His address in Sedalia is 423 East Seventh street.

He was born in Pettis county on August 10, 1919, and was the son of Pete and Ada McFarland, of Sedalia. He attended the Hopewell school and served in the army from September, 1946, until April, 1947.

He is survived by his parents and the following brothers and sisters: J. D., Byron, Woodrow, and Carl McFarland, all of 423 East Seventh street, and Mrs. Tom Lettwith, of Butler.

Firecracker Victim

His head and face in bandages, 9-year-old Robert Zivny lies in a hospital bed at Omaha, where he is recuperating from second degree burns received when a firecracker exploded. Robert said he found the firecracker, placed it at the base of a tree and lit it. He said it "blew up" almost instantly. He said it was his first experience with firecrackers and, he added, it is going to be his last. (AP Wirephoto)

Important Events In World News

WASHINGTON, July 5.—(P)—Senator Donnell (R-Mo) today challenged the appointment of Mrs. Perle Mesta—personal friend of President Truman—to be minister of Luxembourg.

Donnell told the Senate he is "gravely concerned" about the qualifications of Mrs. Mesta for the diplomatic post.

Mrs. Mesta was one of the Democratic party's big money raisers last fall. A wealthy widow, she is a noted party giver.

The Senate must approve if Mrs. Mesta is to take the diplomatic appointment offered by President Truman.

WASHINGTON, July 5.—(P)—The atomic energy commission, commenting on a story in the Grand Junction, Colo., Sentinel, said last night that "uranium has not disappeared from western Colorado plans."

(The Sentinel said 30 tons of uranium oxides have "disappeared into thin air" in the past two years. It said the loss occurred through the use of extraction processes which engineers told the Sentinel they consider outmoded.)

"Reported 'losses' of uranium in extraction processes in plants on the Colorado plateau are 'hypothetical,' an AEC statement said.

WASHINGTON, July 5.—(P)—President Truman and his Democratic congressional leadership discussed labor legislation today but put off a decision whether to fight in the House for repeal of the Taft-Hartley law.

Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) announced after the conference that a decision on whether to fight for an administration labor measure at this session will be reached after he has conferred with Chairman Lesinski (D-Mich) and other members of the House labor committee.

NEW YORK, July 5.—(P)—Coast guard craft today completed rescuing about 20 small boats which were among hundreds capsized by a squall in the New York metropolitan area yesterday. At least seven persons drowned.

There were no immediate reports of further dead.

The score of small boats were reported in trouble or missing over a wide area, but apparently all had been located and righted by midday.

The coast guard said it would compile a complete report of the storm effects.

WASHINGTON, July 5.—(P)—President Truman talked over the general economic situation and the government's financial position with his congressional leaders today. The leaders reported no decision has been reached on whether he will ask Congress again for new taxes.

Mr. Truman is working on a special economic message to the legislators. It is widely expected to carry recommendations for programs to the declining price and employment situation.

Charles Ross, the presidential press secretary, said the message probably will go to the capital early next week, but that there is a chance the president will send it to Congress by next week end.

Mrs. Iva Toguri D'Aquino, 33, is at long last on trial for treason in San Francisco. She is better known as "Tokyo Rose." She was born, ironically, on the Fourth of July in Los Angeles. Her Japanese parents ran a fish and vegetable market.

She was graduated from UCLA in 1941. She was only an average student, neither pretty nor popular. While fellow students had fun, she steadily built up a resentment against those who she believed shunned her because of her race.

After graduation, she left for Japan. She says she went to visit a sick aunt. In Tokyo she enrolled in a Japanese-language school. After Pearl Harbor day, she was "dazed for weeks" but recovered enough to go to work for Radio Tokyo.

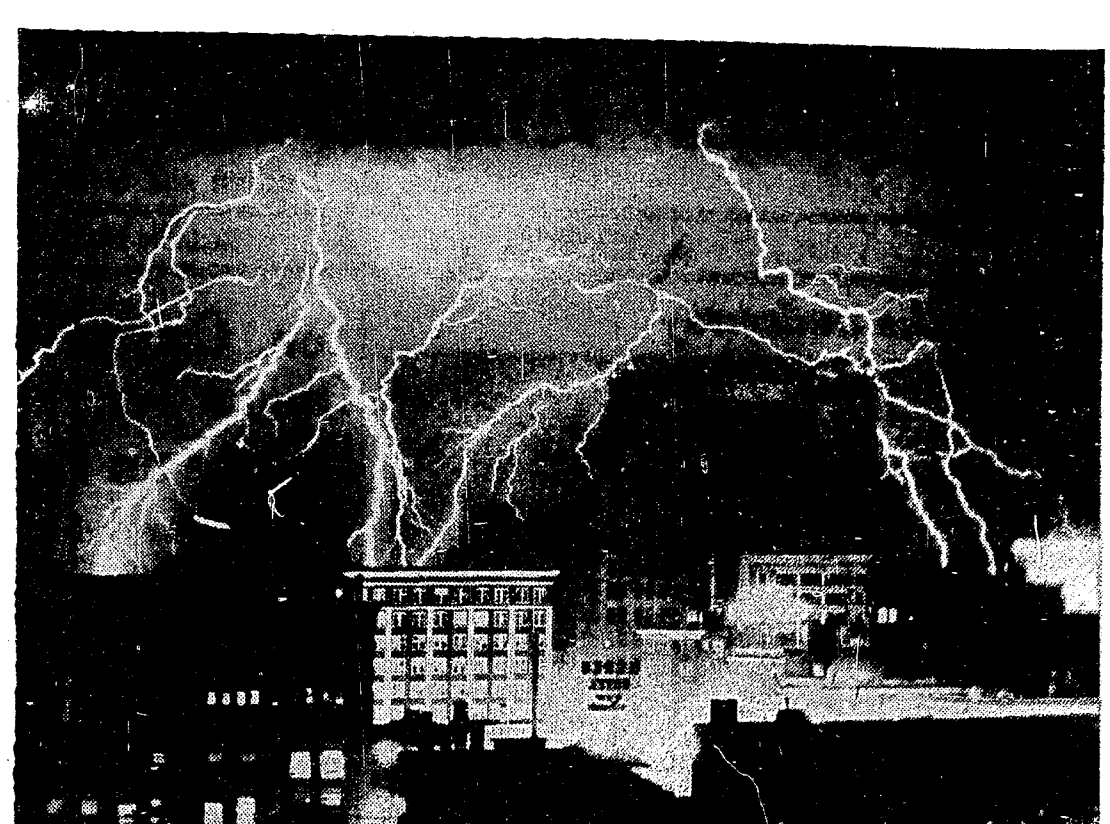

On her "Zero Hour" propaganda programs to the "forgotten men" fighting the Pacific war, honey-voiced Iva tried to make GI's homesick with familiar music, in a lilting voice told them their wives were being unfaithful at home.

She began broadcasting to American troops. The boys in the Aleutians who listened to her dubbed Iva "Tokyo Rose"—a name she never used—and it stuck. She called herself "Little Orphan Annie" or "Annie, your favorite enemy."

In 1945 she married Phillip D'Aquino, Portuguese reporter in Japan. She says this made her Portuguese. Arrested, she was brought to U. S. last September. She claims she wasn't disloyal, "just introducing musical programs."

Hal Boyle's Column

By Hal Boyle
NEW YORK, July 5—(AP)—Jimmy never can forget how old man Jaspers conned him.

He told me about it as we sat in his new apartment with his latest wife, Rosabelle.

"I went to work for him during the war," said Jimmy. "He owned a big independent soft drink business—cherry, grape, lemon, ginger ale—anything that fizzed. And he shipped to five states."

"How did Mr. Jaspers ever get such a big business, honey?" Asked his wife.

"I told you a dozen times!" said Jimmy. "He got it the same way you got me—he stole it! Go mix us a drink."

Rosabelle tripped out to the kitchen, looking pleased at this version of their marriage.

Good Men Hard To Get
"Well, anyway," said her husband, "good men were hard to get."

about then, and it didn't take this old joker long to see I knew my way around. So he made me his general manager.

"Then he began having these strokes. They didn't make him goofy. They just kept him in bed. But every day I had to go out to his house after work and tell him what was doing at the plant."

"What kind of man was this Jaspers, Jimmy?"

"Crazy about money. His first wife divorced him after she caught him smuggling with her maid."

"And then when his ex-wife fell in love and married another guy with less money, I made Jaspers mad. Just to spite her, he built a $100,000 house over in New Jersey—stingy as he was—and up and married the maid. But it didn't bother his first wife. By then she didn't care if Jaspers ate $1,000 bills for breakfast. She was happy."

Rosabelle came in with the drinks.

No Way To Check Up
"What put me in solid with the old geezer," Jimmy went on, "was the way I could scrounge sugar on the black market. We could sell all the pop we could make. The trouble was in getting the sugar. And I found how to get plenty."

"He had no way to check up on me, and for a time I was considering going into business for myself—using his plant. I could've cut a few of the boys in, and we could've run off a thousand or so cases extra at night and sold them ourselves. But my wife was against it."

"Yes," Rosabelle said, looking at him fondly. "It was dishonest and you might have been caught."

"About this time I got a better offer," said Jimmy. "I went to the old man, and he told me, 'Stick to me, my boy. I'll take care of you. The business is going to belong to you and a few oldtimers at the plant when I'm gone.'"

"Naturally, I stuck. Every day I'd go out and the first thing he'd ask was, 'How many cases today?' I'd tell him, and he'd smile and say, 'You'll never regret you stuck with me.'"

Had a Stroke
"Tell him how old Jaspers died," prodded Rosabelle.

"He got a big stroke one morning. He was real weak when I came to see him. He smiled when I told him business was fine. Then he held my hand and whispered, 'Don't leave me, Jimmy. I'll take care of you well.'"

"That night he died. When his will was filed, I rushed out to the courthouse. Well, there were a lot of pages in the will—but the name 'Jimmy' wasn't on any of them."

"No," said Rosabelle, "the old skinflint left everything to the maid and the two children. And that was the first time his neighbors knew he had re-married."

LUCKIES PAY MORE to give you a finer cigarette!

Yes, at tobacco auctions Lucky Strike pays millions of dollars more than official parity prices for fine tobacco!

There's no finer cigarette in the world today than Lucky Strike! To bring you this finer cigarette, the makers of Lucky Strike go after fine, light, naturally mild tobacco—and pay millions of dollars more than official parity prices to get it! So buy a carton of Luckies today. See for yourself how much finer and smoother Luckies really are—how much more real deep-down smoking enjoyment they give you. Yes, smoke a Lucky! You'll agree it's a finer, milder, more enjoyable cigarette!

B. G. CONNER, independent tobacco buyer of South Boston, Va., says: "I've seen the makers of Luckies buy fine tobacco at auction after auction. I've smoked Luckies for 18 years." Here's more evidence that Luckies are a finer cigarette!

Bird Campbells Return Home

Rev. and Mrs. Bird H. Campbell, who for the past three months and a half has been in Europe, arrived home Saturday. Returning on the Queen Elizabeth they were met in New York by their daughter, Mrs. James Harvey and Mr. Harvey, 1814 East Broadway.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell visited England, France, Ireland, Scotland, Wales, Italy, Switzerland, Norway, Denmark, Belgium and Germany, and attended the world wide 10-day convention of the Pentecostal church held in Paris. Ministering in most places they attended all services and there were sometimes as high as 75 converted in one night. Mrs. Campbell stated that they inquired in all countries whether the gifts from America were really reaching the people and were told everywhere they were, and the people were so grateful to America.

September 1, Mr. and Mrs. Campbell will go to the west coast and will hold meetings there until spring when they will go into the southern states. They will keep Sedalia as their headquarters and will retain their home here.

Sunday night a home coming service honoring Mr. and Mrs. Campbell was held at the Assembly of God church where he was pastor for a number of years.

'Why Success Or Failure In The Child'

over-rated. He compared intelligence to the amperage in the electric wire. It just lopes along without any special purpose but when knocked along by 22,000 volts, it lights the light bulb and turns the motors that run our factories. Some of us are intelligent in some things and not so intelligent in others while our brothers may be quick in the things in which we are slow.

8. Fear. The successful boy is not successful because of fear or the lack of fear. He has a knowledge of the difference between fear and cowardice. The unsuccessful boy is many times plagued by fear of failure, or comparison with someone else too far ahead. If comparisons must be made, make it with something just a little way ahead, something within reach.

Drove Tractor While Drunk; On Blacklist

SARK, CHANNEL Islands, The Island of Sark, where autos are banned by law, had its first drunken driving case in history today.

An outraged judge ordered the defendant's drinks cut off until August 1, 1951.

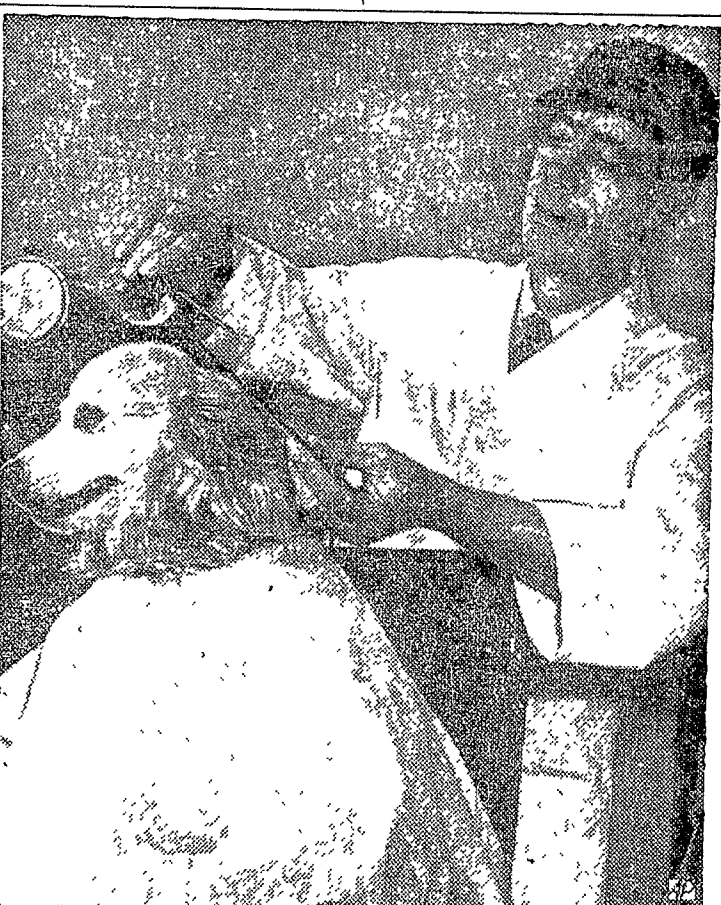

The offender—John Terree—was accused of driving a tractor while intoxicated on two occasions last month.

The court directed the little island's saloonkeepers to put Terree on their blacklist for the next two years. He also was fined ten shillings ($2).

Picketing For Time This A. M.

A picketer picketed the Rosen- building, now under construction, for a short time this morning over a dispute as to who was going to be allowed to take on the welding job there.

Walter Cramer, one of the contractors for the new building, gave this account of the incident this morning:

"A local welder joined a union here that claimed this work. After he had joined, another organization for the Iron Workers of Kansas City came down and claimed that this welder had joined the wrong union, and that this local welder should have joined their union."

The local welder tried to explain this morning that he acted in good faith in joining the Teamsters Union and therefore, he thought since this was a jurisdictional dispute he should be taken care of by the organizer of Teamsters Union, who first claimed jurisdiction over this work. But the organizer for the Iron Workers Union didn't seem to agree. So a picketer was put on the job leaving the contractors in the middle of this jurisdictional fight.

The contractors gave in to the Iron Workers Union to settle the dispute, and had to remove the local welder from the job and put on two members of the Kansas City Steel Workers' union.

Traffic Cases

Three cases of careless driving were called in police court, this morning, resulting in two defendants failing to appear and their cash bonds being forfeited and a third appearing and fined $10.

3 Teams Won Twin Bills

By the Associated Press

The Fourth was a real holiday for St. Joseph, Salina and Topeka.

The three Western Association clubs chalked up double victories; St. Joseph stretched its first place lead to four and one-half games by winning at Leavenworth 6-2 and 9-8. Jim Neufeldt homered in each game for the Cards, his second game clout coming with the bases loaded in the sixth.

Topeka took a doubleheader from Joplin 6-5 and 14-7. Manager Butch Niemann's home run in the sixth was the margin of victory for Topeka in the first game.

Finishing Touches

Lefty George New put the finishing touches on a pair of Salina victories. He hurled a four-hitter against Hutchinson to win 5-0 after Salina won the afternoon game 6-4. New struck out nine in the night game.

In the only split doubleheader in the circuit, Muskogee won from Fort Smith 5-4, then dropped the second game 6-1.

Tonight's schedule: Salina at Hutchinson, Leavenworth at St. Joseph, Joplin at Topeka and Ft. Smith at Muskogee.

GREEN COLONIAL FURNACE SERVICE

What new telephone rates will do...

THE INVESTMENT ADDED for each telephone gained in Missouri in 1948 was $355. The investment per telephone before the war was $260.

So it is that high costs of operation and additions of huge quantities of new telephone plant installed at the higher postwar levels have combined to produce the low rate of earnings now being experienced in Missouri. Earnings are inadequate to attract the millions of dollars needed—much lower than those of industry in general.

The telephone rates you pay have a big job to do.

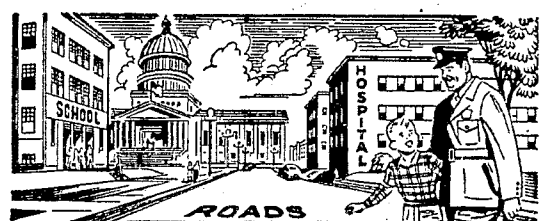

First of all, the revenues they produce must cover expenses.

PAYROLLS represent two thirds of all expenses. This year we will feel the full effects of the December wage agreement, which amounts to nearly three million dollars additional a year in Missouri.

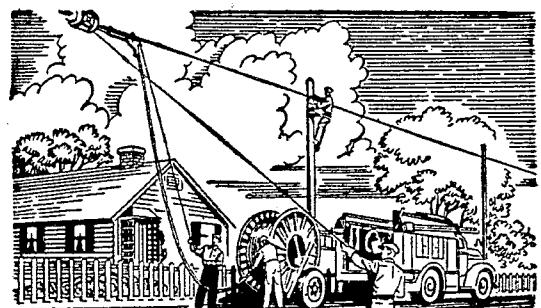

MATERIALS are still high, despite recent declines in some prices.

TAXES average 79 cents a month per telephone. This does not include excise or sales taxes paid directly by customers, which average $1.21 per month per telephone. Thus, the combined taxes customers pay average $2.00 a month.

EARNINGS should compare favorably with those of other businesses, so that investors—everyday people in all walks of life—will risk their savings in the telephone business.

WITH THEIR SAVINGS, we can build the large quantities of new telephone plant needed to improve and expand telephone service in Missouri.

That's why we have asked for a rate increase... to improve earnings... to attract the capital... to build the plant... to bring the people of Missouri the kind and amount of telephone service they need and want.

Radioactive Sulphur
Traces Citrus Burn
VANCOUVER, Canada.—(AP)—Radioactive sulfur tracers and a Geiger counter are used in the University of California to learn how sulfur burns citrus fruits. This knowledge maybe useful to make safe such popular insecticides as sulfur dust and lime-sulfur sprays.

The methods were reported at the annual meeting of the Pacific Division of the American Association of the Advancement of Science. The report was based on work done by Dr. F. M. Turrell and Marcella Chervenak of the College of Agriculture's Experiment Station, Riverside.

Lincoln brings you automatic shifting
with HYDRA-MATIC!

NO GEARS TO SHIFT!
NO CLUTCH TO PRESS!
SIMPLE AS 1-2-3!

The 1949 LINCOLN COSMOPOLITAN SPORT SEDAN
White side-wall tires, road lamps, and HYDRA-MATIC transmission* optional at extra cost

- START THE ENGINE
just as you always have! But forget the clutch pedal now! For there isn't any clutch pedal—in a 1949 Lincoln or Lincoln Cosmopolitan with HYDRA-MATIC!
- SET THE "DRIVE"
There's a "Drive Selector"—in place of the gearshift. Set it at the "Drive" position. Your HYDRA-MATIC transmission does all the shifting for you automatically! Then...
- STEP ON THE ACCELERATOR
and go—with a smooth, sweeping surge of power! To slow down or stop, just step on the brake. That's how simple it is to drive any new 1949 Lincoln—with HYDRA-MATIC!

There's Life in Old Salt Lake
SALT LAKE CITY—(P)—The Great Salt Lake is not entirely without life, although it is several times saltier than ocean water. Analyses have shown the salt content to range through the years from less than 13 to about 27 per cent. Because of the salt a swimmer cannot sink in the lake. Minute brine shrimp, various larvae, insects and algae live in the water.

Plan Saving For Freshmen

The University of Missouri has announced a plan to save time and expense for freshmen students desiring to enter the College of Agriculture next fall. Representatives of the University will visit fifteen convenient area centers during July to register new students without requiring an advance trip to Columbia.

This new plan applies only to freshmen enrolling for the first time and desiring to take courses in agriculture, home economics, forestry or pre-veterinary medicine.

The enrollment center for this area will be the Public Library in Sedalia on 3rd Street and Kentucky avenue, on July 26.

To prospective students in Pettis County, the following suggestions are offered by County Agent Roy I. Copen.

"If you have not already sent in a transcript of your high school grades to the Director of Admissions, Jesse Hall, Columbia, you should do so at once. By doing this you will get a permit to enroll. If you have not received this by the time of the meeting nearest your home, bring with you to the meeting a transcript of your grades signed by your High School principal.

"Each of the meetings listed will begin at 9:30 in the forenoon. You will find several persons from the University ready to answer questions and help make out your study programs."

Test On Grain For Harvest

A quick method of checking in the field whether wheat, oats and barley are dry enough to combine can now be used by farmers says County Extension Agent, Roy I. Copen.

Chemically pure ammonium chloride, which is readily available at drug stores, is the material used in making the test. Approximately one tablespoonful of the material is placed in a small bottle together with five or six times that much grain threshed out by hand from heads picked from the field to be harvested. Hands should be dry as sweaty hands handling the grain may change the test.

The bottle containing the ammonium chloride and the grain is shaken for about 30 seconds. If the grain contains more than 14% moisture the ammonium chloride will take up enough moisture to cause it to stick to the sides of the bottle. When the moisture is less than 14% the ammonium chloride will remain dry enough to avoid stickiness.

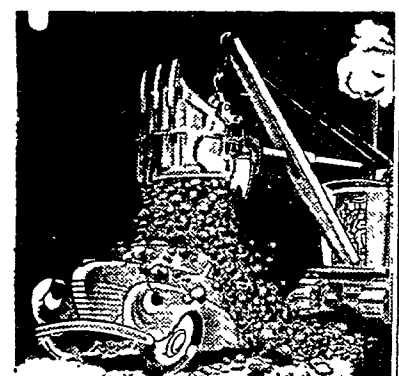

This simple test does not tell what the actual moisture content of the grain is, but merely tells whether the moisture content is above or below 14%. Small grain combined with more than 14% moisture is likely to heat and spoil while in storage.

Decline in the Production of Milk Noted

Lack of Balance In Pasture on one Farm Cause There

"Our cows are dropping in milk and fat production. What can I do about it?" This "phone call" came to the Agricultural Extension office about ten days ago.

A visit was made to the farm to see what the cause might be. Usually June is a month of high production of milk and fat. Tests usually are lower in flush seasons but high fat production continues due to high milk production.

One thing found out on this farm is that cows usually are dry only about 1 month as compared to a recommended period of 6 weeks to 2 months. A high producing cow is a heavy worker. High production for 10 months draws heavily on the cows system. She needs a 6 weeks to 2 months period to build up reserve flesh for another 10 month high production period.

The production on this farm likely will be much lower in July and August. A lack of balance of pasture is on this farm. There is about twice the acreage of blue grass needed for May and June. Usually blue grass provides little nutrient in July and August. The top dairymen provides either, probable both, lespedeza and Sudan for all of this period up to September when rye, barley or sweet clover is available. The blue grass if in right balance then is not pastured from early July till winter.

Would Provide Pasture
On this farm where production was going down and where twice the acreage of blue grass for May and June were available, only a small acreage of lespedeza was available and this is to be cut for hay. No Sudan was seeded. A sizable acreage of small grain had no legume seeded with it. Hal lespedeza been seeded, about 11 acre per cow, in this small grain, excellent pasture would be available as soon as the small grain is removed.

In Balanced Farming this item of ample pasture from April to December is given careful consideration. A few exchanges here and there increases the output of the farm and the income of the farmer which will provide cash that may be used to start a terracing program which most farms need and this particular farm is no exception.

Blue grass pasture is an excellent pasture for two periods May and June and winter. Other crops in these two months will yield more grass per acre, but a blue grass sod can be pastured when other pasture land is too wet for animals to be on during these 2 months and short periods in the fall. THE STORY: Mike McTag, a mining engineer who had been planning a vacation, meets Cory Farnell, beautiful, high-spirited daughter of an old mine friend, who had inherited the Dark Angel after her father's death. Cory wants Mike to find out why her mine has fallen off in gold production. Mike is at first patronizing—having his own ideas about women and mines—and then he is treated to a display of Farnell's temper which leads him to change his vacation plans and go to the Dark Angel for a few days. At the mine he meets Uncle Jake Whisker, manager of the mill, and Archie Trask, who is in charge of everything underground. Mike is convinced the mine is playing out and Cory reveals that she has received an offer for the mine that will "pay off the men." The three or four millions her father was supposed to have had been lost on oil operations before his death, Cory says. She is nearly broke.

VI

I WENT through the mine that afternoon with Archie Trask, and the first thing I did was take chip samples across the working faces in each level.

A chip sample is what it sounds like: you start at one side of the vein with a hammer and you work your way across, the chips falling into your canvas sample bag as you go. You mix them all together, grind them up, and you have a pretty fair average for the vein.

In this case I had to be extra careful because the real paystreak was a narrow band six inches wide, next the footwall. The rest of the vein was low-grade, flecked here and there with chalcopyrite but probably not worth the cost of mining if it had been by itself.

But that paystreak, what there was of it, was a beautiful thing—real high-grade, with plenty of bonfire and chalcopyrite. My job was to be sure I didn't take too much and throw off the average. Trask was with me and he rattled off figures. "Two dollars a ton across 3 1/2 feet, $25 a ton across six inches. Works out around $5 average. What Cory forgets is that in the old days that streak of high-grade was wider."

I dumped the stuff in the rumble of Cory's convertible before I went over to the boarding house to eat.

WHEN we'd finished we took the bags over to the assay shed, where Trask introduced me to a youngster named Riggs. I asked Riggs a few questions and he seemed to know his stuff. He thought he could give me the results by noon tomorrow.

"Well," I said to Trask, "thanks for your help. And now I think I'll just roam around the workings and get the geology of the place straightened out in my mind."

"Sure thing, Mr. McTag. I'll be in the mine office if you want me."

He set out for the office and I went underground again. I was glad he was out of the way, because he seemed a nice young chap and what I was going to do might have hurt his feelings.

I went right back to the stope we had just left. The crews were surprised to see me back so soon, but not greatly—miners think all engineers are slightly nuts.

I took four new sets of samples, one from each face, tied the bags and put them in the rumble of Cory's convertible. That evening I'd drive Cory to Driscow, 20 miles away, where I could send out the bags by express on the Pacific Northern. Not that I didn't trust Riggs. It was just a matter of principle. Then I went to eat.

THE road between Dark Angel and Driscow would be called a trail in any other part of the country, so we didn't talk much on the way. Cory sat outside while I went into the station, prepaid the charges and wrote out shipping tags. Then I went back outside, got the stuff out of the rumble and carried it over to the counter.

I asked the agent where the nearest phone was and he pointed to an old-fashioned party-line affair in a corner. I cranked the handle, and you could hear receivers being lifted all the way up the valley. Finally I got through to Effie at her home.

"I'm sending some stuff in," I said. "Copper, gold and silver. Phone me at the Dark Angel when you get the figures."

"Okay. And, look, what about —"

"Take it easy," I said, "you're on the air."

Effie is a bright girl. "Okay," she said, "I'll look after it."

Cull Out The Loafing Hens

A farmer won't keep a hired man if he won't work. Why should an owner of a flock of hens keep a loafer? It's almost as easy to detect a loafing hen from June to November as it is to detect a loafing hired hand say the Agricultural Extension Office.

Every cull in the flock is costing the profit of at least one good layer. If there are 20 culls in the flock of 100 hens, then at least 20 of the layers are working for the culls and not more than 60 for their owner.

Obviously good hens will appear as culls if they have not received proper rations and good care. Assuming this condition exists after June 1 the flock should be examined each month for the purpose of removing the poorer hens.

Accurate culling requires handling each hen. However if the owner waits to take some short cuts he can look over his flock and use a catching hook made of stiff wire in picking out the suspicious hens. These suspicious hens now would be those with shriveled combs, "crow-headed" long beaks, and narrow between the legs and a shallow chest. The comb is lying now has a bright red and enlarged comb; bright eye; enlarged, soft, pliable, moist vent free from yellow color. The pin bones will be spread apart and there will be considerable depth between the ends of the pin bones and the rear end of the keel. In a hen not in laying condition the comb is likely to be shrunken, pale and covered with a white scurf. The eye will be dull. The vent will be dry, stiff, puckered, and in yellow-skinned varieties it will have regained its yellow color. The pin bones will be close together and the abdomen will be shrunken up so there is little space between the pin bones and the keel.

Extension Circular 516 "Culling for Egg Production" is available for the asking at the Extension Office, 410 1/2 South Ohio, Sedalia.

pared to other pasture, holds soil in place better. But a well balanced program means enough extra income to pay the cost of terracing.

Unconscious Thieves

HAMBURG, Germany—(AP)—Two thieves crept into a Westphalian pig sty and tried to chloroform the 300-pound occupant. The farmer was disturbed by the porker's grunts.

When he reached the sty he found the pig still conscious with the two thieves unconscious beside him. They had been knocked out by their own chloroform.

WASHINGTON, July 5 — It has been exactly 10 years since this column exposed the Louisiana scandals, resulting in the imprisonment of Gov. Richard Leche and various members of the old Huey Long gang.

Today, the Long family and friends have staged an amazing comeback. Huey's brother, Earl, is governor of the state. Huey's son, Russell, is U. S. senator from Louisiana. So the other day I went back to Louisiana just 10 years after writing the first column on the Louisiana scandals — to see how the rebuilt Long machine is handling its comeback.

Things have changed a lot in 10 years. The name in the governor's mansion is still spelled "L-o-n-g," but the atmosphere is much different. It's calmer, less spectacular and far more serious.

Earl Long is giving the state such an even keel administration that it's almost humdrum. The city of New Orleans, under young Mayor De Lesseps Morrison is still rowing with the Long machine, but the row lacks the melodrama and bellicose pyrotechnics of Huey's day.

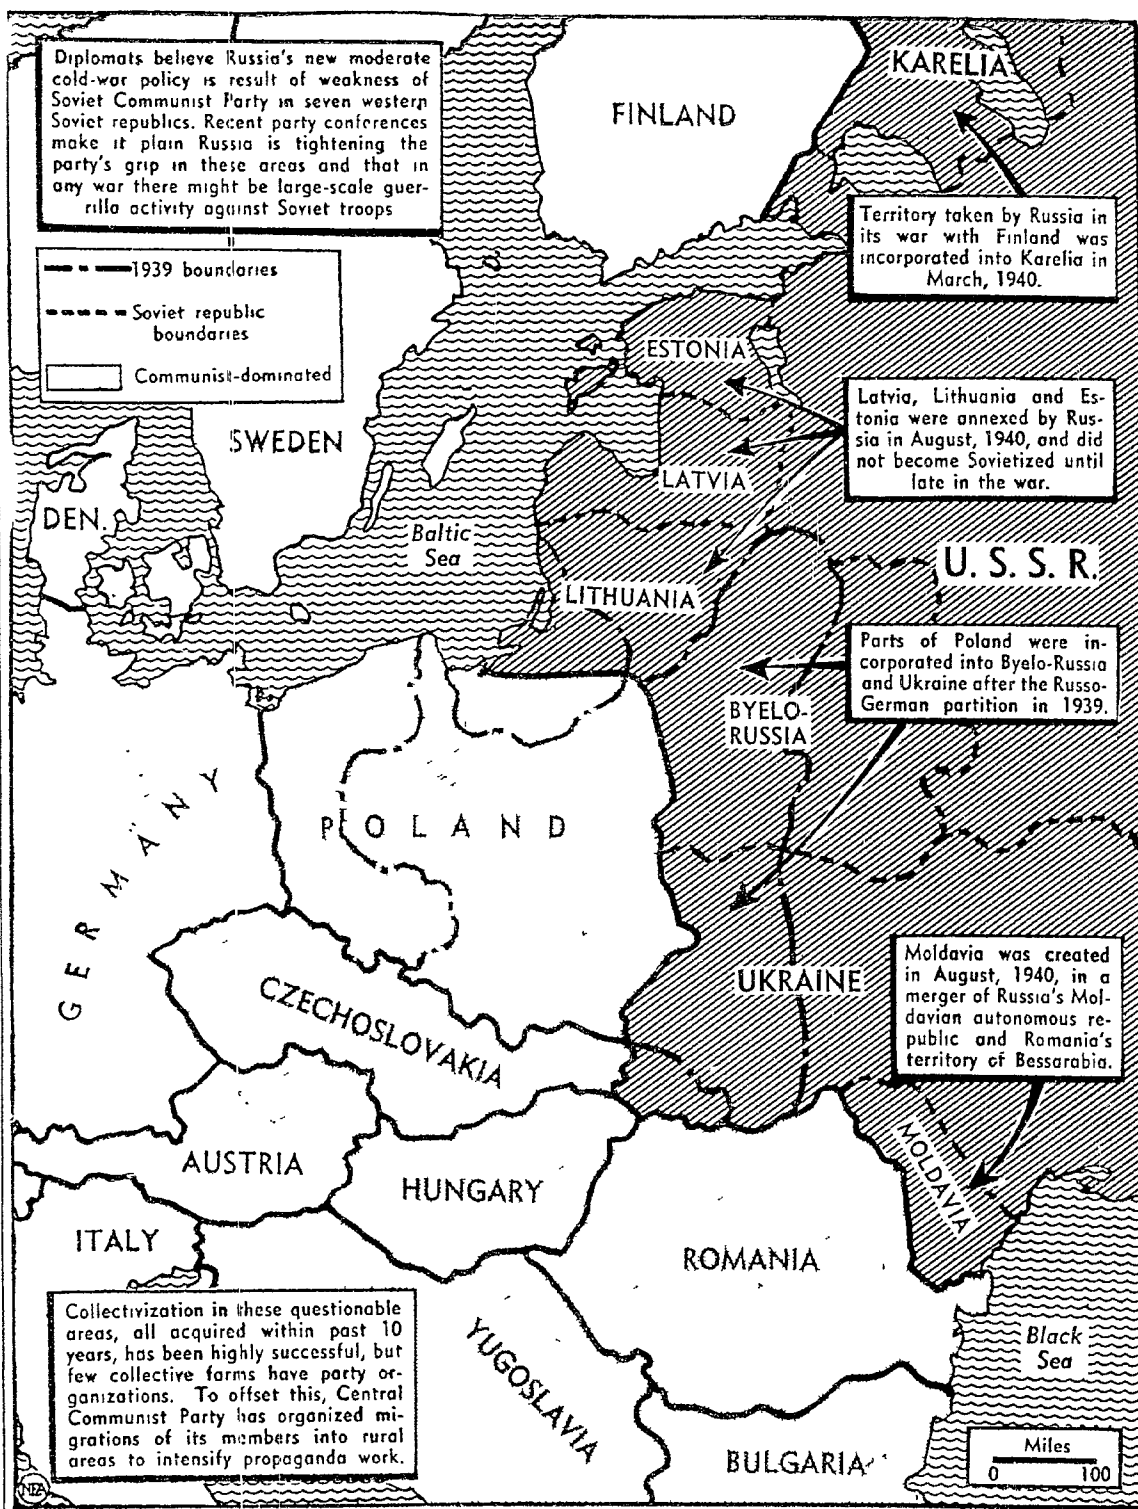

Most interesting development is the way many of the old Huey Long crowd have staged quiet comebacks. Seymour Weiss, former Democratic national committeeman, who went to jail for income-tax evasion, is now back running the Roosevelt hotel in New Orleans and going out of his way to be a patriotic citizen. Everyone respects Seymour's quiet comeback.

Leche Raises Flowers

Governor Leche, who got 10 years for taking bribes, is living on his farm near Covington and raising flowers. His garden is so unique that tourists pay 75 cents to visit it.

Dr. J. Monroe Smith, former president of Louisiana State university, who got 30 years for embezzling university funds, is dead now. But before he died he was given a chance, as rehabilitation officers at the state penitentiary at Angola, to help others who had suffered his misfortune.

Gov. Long was criticized for giving Doc Smith this job, but when Doc got out of jail he was refused a real estate license, found himself unable to make a living and pled with the governor to send him back to the penitentiary where he could help rebuild others.

WANTED: By Joe Stalin, More Communists—

London political sources think one factor in Russia's recent moderate policy is the weakness of the Soviet Communist party in strategic areas of western Russia. Map shows these seven republics, all comparative newcomers in the Soviet Union. Kremlin is particularly concerned over scarcity of party members in agricultural districts. On most collective farms there is not a single Communist. In Latvia, only 1.6 of the collectives have party organizations. Moscow, said to fear that in any war there would be real danger of large scale guerrilla activity against Soviet troops in these rural areas, is intensifying a campaign to increase Communist Party strength there.

Dr. Smith knew something about the difficulty of staging a comeback and thought he was qualified for this job, so the governor appointed him. He died, however, before very long in office.

Then there was George Caldwell, who went to jail for stealing WPA materials and padding WPA payrolls. He is now the leading building contractor in Baton Rouge. Abe Shushan, who built the New Orleans airport, is now back in the business of being an honest man. Monty Hart, of all those convicted, failed to stage a comeback. He committed suicide.

Huey Was Honest
It was always my belief that Huey Long — and I knew him well — was honest. He soaked the big oil companies, taxed the utilities and squeezed campaign contributions out of all sorts of people. But the money went back into free schoolbooks, better roads and a network of bridges that have left a lasting mark on the state.

Huey's brother Earl is a quiet, easygoing farmer, just the opposite of his brother's high-strung, ripsnorting bundle of nerves which once made Louisiana the most spotlighted state in the union.

Earl also has followed a soak-the-rich policy, induced his legislature to pass a heavy tax against the oil companies, put through free lunches for all the school children regardless of their means, and has increased Negro school teachers' pay from 70 to $200 a month if they have a B. A. degree.

"The only way to have compulsory education is with free books and free lunches," says Governor Long, who has no children of his own. "Kids can't study when they're hungry and an awful lot of kids down our way just don't get enough to eat."

Earl Long discusses his late brother quite frankly. "The oil companies hated Huey," he says. "He taxed 'em and they hated him. I have taxed them too, but they have taken it out more on Russell than on me."

Senator Long
He referred to his nephew Russell, now U. S. senator from Louisiana.

"In fact, every mistake I make Russell gets blamed for," continued the senator's uncle. "Russell's going to make a good senator. He has all of Huey's good points and none of his bad. 'Huey wanted money for power,' explained Earl. 'He never wanted it for himself. As for me, I don't need money because I don't care about power and I'm retiring from this job when my term is up.'"

Those who know Governor Long say he means it, that he would rather be on his farm than in the governor's mansion and that even now he spends every spare minute he can slip away from Baton Rouge on his farm.

I got into a discussion of farm methods with the governor. "A pig," he said, "won't put on weight if it's unhappy. And a pig that is kept in cramped dirty quarters is unhappy. A pig likes to keep himself clean just as much as a human being. When you coop him up in a lot of filth, he just doesn't put on weight."

I told the governor that I was going to quote him to my wife who was still nked at the ornate hog barn I had built featuring running water and upstairs duplex sleeping quarters. The governor allowed that it would be almost worth a trip to Washington to see this and we both agreed that women folk didn't really appreciate the importance of comfort and cleanliness in the life of a hog.
